6 ways you're a better photographer with an Anscomark M® Camera

1. Perfect exposure every time by just matching a needle . . . extra-sensitive photoelectric exposure meter couples directly to all lenses . . . and you can set either shutter or diaphragm at will. 2. Two fast, basic 50mm lenses to choose from: the ultra-speed f/1.9 Xyton or the f/2.8 Xytar. Both give greater image sharpness and brilliance.

3. Be ready for anything, any time with two great accessory lenses. Get great sport shots and portraits, always needle-sharp and brilliantly crisp with the 100mm Xyton f/4 telephoto lens. Get the whole picture in cramped spaces or broad landscapes with the 35mm f/3.5 Xyton wide-angle lens. 4. Focus faster and surer . . . frame your pictures more accurately with the Anscomark's single-window rangefinder-viewfinder. It fully compensates for parallax for all lenses . . . color-coded so that you can see the exact field of view for every lens right in the finder. 5. Use any kind of flashbulb or electronic flash and get perfect synchronization every time! The Anscomark's iris diaphragm and built-in M-X synchronization give perfect flash pictures at every shutter speed! 6. High-speed shutter is recessed into camera body for protection, gives you a full range of shutter speeds from 1 second to 1/500 second plus "B." And there's a self-timer as well. The Anscomark M Camera with f/1.9 lens, less than $160.00 . . . with f/2.8 lens, less than $135.00. Xyton 100mm f/4 telephoto in leather case, less than $80.00. Xyton 35mm f/3.5 wide angle in leather case, less than $60.00. Leather case for Anscomark M, less than $13.00. Ansco, Binghamton, N. Y., A Division of General Aniline & Film Corp.

HOW WOULD YOU HAVE LIGHTED THIS PICTURE?

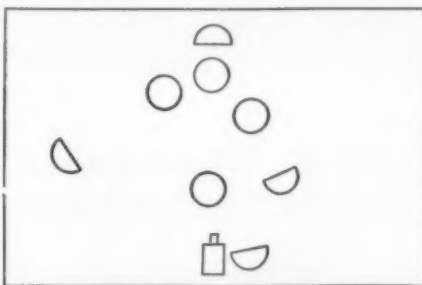

NEWS PHOTOGRAPHER LARRY GEORGE DOES SOME SHARP SHOOTING WITH G-E No. 5 FLASHBULBS

"My assignment was to photograph the actors in a high school Western play," writes staff photographer Larry George of the Indianapolis News. "I wanted a picture that would capture the mood of the play and show the principals in some dramatic way."

"It was late at night, during rehearsal. The only existing light came from a few overhead lights on stage. I decided G-E No. 5 Flashbulbs would be perfect for the job. I placed four of them on extensions, all sync on camera...three on the background group and one side-lighting the principal subject in the foreground.

"My camera was a 4x5 Speed Graphic with wide-angle lens, placed at floor level. Exposure 1/50, f22. G-E No. 5's again proved to be the perfect solution to a tricky lighting problem."

The President REPORTS

Conrad Hodnik, APSA
Services Vice-President
Guest Reporter

PSA SERVICES in their entirety, have grown to be a most important part of The Photographic Society of America. The many available services offer up-to-date material to individual members and clubs as well as providing many organized activities. All of these must be geared to the many different interests within the Society.

A glance at the Services Directory, usually found on the last pages of the JOURNAL, shows clearly how many different units of service are necessary for this large membership. Although we note the complexity and completeness of these services structures, there is no way to grasp or measure the "human values" within their scope. A closer look at each service listing reveals the name of a PSA member heading that particular activity—a PSAer who knows that photography can be a lot more enjoyable when there is an opportunity to help others. Surely each of these chairmen could tell of many heartwarming experiences that have made their work more interesting and enjoyable.

For example, Walter Bullerman tells of an unusually interesting experience connected with his job as International Distributor for the Recorded Lectures Program. He received an order for Lecture No. 10 from Nimpkish Camera Club in Beaver Cove, British Columbia. Further information reveals that Nimpkish is located in a large logging camp on Vancouver Island, about 200 miles northwest of the city of Vancouver. This camp is accessible only by plane or boat. Therefore, when Nimpkish receives its customs forms (flown in by plane) they are filled out, returned to the mainland, and the lecture is flown in on the next plane.

In spite of the difficulties involved in obtaining these lectures, it is a tribute to this isolated camera club that since May of last year its members have ordered and received additional lectures in June, September and October. Needless to say, the RLP group got quite a "bang" out of servicing this club with six lectures in five months. Nimpkish is headed by Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cooke, Camp "N," Beaver Cove, V. I., B. C., Canada. Certainly this club is to be commended for its continued activity and interest in photography in spite of its out-of-the-way location. No doubt other activity chairmen could relate many similar experiences.

You are missing a most important part of your PSA membership if you don't take advantage of the many and varied services offered. If you are interested in any of the activities listed in the directory, your inquiry will be received and answered by an understanding and helpful PSAer whose sole desire is to help you get more enjoyment out of photography. To all the dedicated PSAers in any branch of service work—a salute for your part in making this Society an active and enjoyable one for our membership!

Pattern for Performance

Have you ever had difficulty when part of your subject is brightly illuminated and part is in deep shadow? Have you ever wished for a film with built-in sensitivity to shadow detail and with a tone scale long enough to prevent burning out the highlights?

Ilford HPS is just such a film. Its extreme sensitivity at low levels of illumination enables you to reduce to a minimum the exposure needed for rendering shadow detail—and you will find the highlights faithfully portrayed.

For minimum grain, develop in Ilford ID II or similar developer. For maximum emulsion speed, develop in Ilford Microphen. And to get the best out of your HPS negative—enlarge it on Ilford Plastika Paper!

First PFA Regional

Jury selects prints and color slides to represent five-state area in national judging of pictures for Photography in the Fine Arts III

ON DECEMBER 10 a jury of outstanding regional art authorities judged photographs entered in the Upper Midwest Regional Search for Photography in the Fine Arts (PFA), a project sponsored by the Twin Cities (Minneapolis-St. Paul) Area Council of Camera Clubs with the assistance of the Minneapolis Institute of Arts and the Minneapolis Star-Tribune. The pictures they selected will go on to compete for hanging in the national PFA III exhibition.

Members of the jury were Wilhelmus B. Bryan, Director of the Minneapolis School of Art; Clark Dean, Professional Photographer, Instructor at the Minneapolis School of Art; Martin Friedman, Curator of the Walker Art Center; Orazio Fumagalli, Director of the Tweed Gallery, Duluth; Malcolm Lein, Director of the St. Paul Gallery and School of Art; Jerome Liebeling, Associate Professor of Art, University of Minnesota; William Saltzman, Exhibition Director, Rochester Art Center; and Carl Weinhardt, Jr., Director of the Minneapolis Institute of Arts. The judging took place at the Minneapolis School of Art.

This search for photographs that deserve to be exhibited as works of art was open to all photographers in Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa and Wisconsin. The panel selected 15 color transparencies and 23 monochrome prints for possible inclusion in PFA III. As this is being written in December, plans are under way for showing the best photographs among the regional entries at the Minneapolis Institute of Arts in January.

The results of the regional selection were surprising to most of the local photographers who attended the judging and pointed out the fact that this project has definitely higher standards and significantly different criteria than the International Exhibitions.

As Photography in the Fine Arts was founded by Ivan Dmitri, APSA, nationally known photographer who once lived in Argyle, Minn., and attended the University of Minnesota, it seemed appropriate that the first Regional Search should be held in this area and that Dmitri should be present.

The purpose of PFA, which has been actively supported by the Saturday Re- view and the Metropolitan Museum in New York, is to give photography status in the world of art. There have been two previous national PFA shows, both of which have been exhibited at the Minneapolis Institute of Arts while on tour following their showings at the Metropolitan in New York City.

Nationally, PSA is cooperating with PFA in searching out hidden talent among serious amateur photographers. Joseph A. Bernstein, APSA, is Chairman of PSA's National Committee for PFA. The Regional PFA Committee includes Carl Weinhardt, Jr., Chairman; Harland Nasvik, APSA; C. Ralph Paul, President, Twin Cities Area Council of Camera Clubs; and John T. Sherman, FPSA.

The 23 accepted prints were by 14 makers: Frank Agar (2), Charles E. Bjorgen (2), Virgie Cederberg, John Fraser, William Grimstad (2), Carroll Hartwell (3), Wallace Kellam (2), Allen Schumeister (2), James M. Sholstrand and Richard Thorad (2), all of Minneapolis; Bruce Bauries (2) and Gerald Lang of St. Paul, and Fred B. Schul of Fargo, N. D., and Arnold Maki of Hibbing, Minn.

The 15 transparencies were by: John Connery, Elmer Kurtz (2), Dora Nallick (2), Michael Nallick, Marvin Tjornhom, Elsie Westmark, and Mauritz Westmark, all of Minneapolis; Madelon Bakke and Al Grotefend of St. Paul; and Don Blagen of Spring Valley, Wis., B. C. Reinicke (2) of Elm Grove, Wis. and Edwin C. Parke of Pierre, S. D. •

What could possibly make a camera worth $550?

THE work you can do with it, nothing else.

The precision and resolving power, for example, that have led many studio photographers to use a Hasselblad $2\frac{1}{4} \times 2\frac{1}{4}$ single-lens reflex instead of an 8 x 10 view camera.

The interchangeability of lenses, film backs and accessories—over 100 camera set-ups in all—that enables a professional to carry a Hasselblad instead of half his studio on location assignments.

The automatic aids that let the pro concentrate on his subject instead of the camera, and help the amateur make up in part for the intimate knowledge of light and optics that marks professional work.

Hasselblad lenses, for instance, make color and detail almost automatically perfect. These lenses have Synchro-Compur shutters and are made by Carl Zeiss of the best optical glass in the world. Resolving power—the acid test of any lens—permits greater enlargements than virtually any other lens made today.

The Hasselblad reflex system alone costs more to make than many cameras sell for. On its ground glass viewer you see a print-size preview of the quality you will get—focus, depth of field right through the lens (and no parallax). A pop-up magnifier even shows details too tiny for the naked eye.

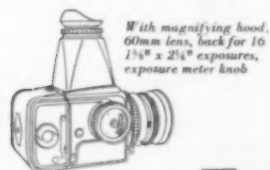

Diaphragms of Hasselblad lenses are automatic. They remain open until you shoot, so that your view cannot get away from you. If you wish, you can also stop the diaphragm down by hand.

The EVS system synchronizes diaphragm openings to shutter speeds. You simply set your lens for a code number and your speed and aperture will be automatically aligned. You can then change to any other speed and your aperture will change with it—automatically.

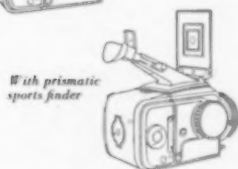

Hasselblad interchangeability? You can switch from color to black and white in mid-roll, or from telephoto to wide angle, or to a sports viewer, or to a magnifying hood for shots through a microscope. You can set up for almost every shot known to photography in seconds.

What could possibly make a camera worth $550? The work you can do with it, nothing else. With Zeiss Planar f/2.8 80mm lens, $549.50.

Write Dept. HPS-2 for literature and the name of your nearest Hasselblad dealer. PAILLARD Incorporated, 100 Sixth Avenue, New York 13, New York.

★ STAR Exhibitors

The PSA Star Ratings have been established to provide recognition for advanced exhibitors of prints and slides. Thus a one-star exhibitor already has become a serious contender, while a four or five-star exhibitor must be a seasoned veteran of the salons.

Each Division establishes its own criteria by which Star Ratings are awarded, requiring a given number of acceptances in PSA-recognized salons for each, with a minimum number of different pictures. The Ratings, of necessity, are compiled some six weeks before the JOURNAL reaches you. Here are the PSAers who have entered the star exhibitor echelon since last month's issue, or have moved up another step:

COLOR DIVISION (Slides)

Requirements: 1-star, 30 acceptances with 6 slides; 2-star, 80 acc. with 16 slides; 3-star, 160 acc. with 32 slides; 4-star, 320 acc. with 64 slides; 5-star, 640 acc. with 128 slides. Compiled by Marian Neill.

PSA Journal Awards

The PSA JOURNAL Awards program, directed by H. Lou Gibson, FPSA, Chairman, provides recognition for members who consistently share their talent for photography and writing through the columns of the JOURNAL. Points are credited on a scale ranging from 2 for a small news item to 20 for a full-length, illustrated feature. They are credited automatically, as each issue is published, by Dorothy Otis, Secretary of the Journal Awards Committee.

40, 80, 120 and 160 point totals each merit one Journal Star; 200 and 400 point totals each merit one Journal Silver Star Award (engraved and embedded in plastic); 1,000 points merits the Journal Gold Star Award (engraved and embedded in plastic). The following awards have been gained during the period from July to November, 1969:

Two Gold Star Awards

Recorded Lectures

Route 3, Box 779, Excelsior, Minn.

WITH SPRING just a breath away, those whose primary interest is in nature photography are preparing for their busiest shutter clicking season. The camera and accessories must be in apple pie order to avoid missing that "once in a lifetime picture." It is most important that the photographer himself be completely prepared.

"Individual perception" can be developed in several ways. One is through personal study and thought. Another is through the use of "organized" classes.

The amount of individual study is often a haphazard thing. It is rather hard to keep it directed into desired channels without guidance.

There is much that can be done at the camera club level for good training and teaching. Here, the photographer has an additional advantage of being with those he knows, and those who know him.

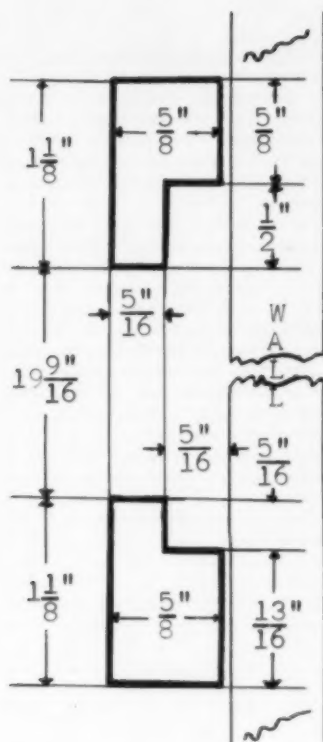

As in most major fields of photography, your PSA Recorded Lectures Program has many lectures aimed at the needs of the nature enthusiast. We of RLP, are prepared to work out a fine educational program tailored to meet the particular needs of your group. Although this column is devoted to nature photography, it could be used as an example of the type and the quality of programs we offer for other interests.

There are five RLP Lectures devoted to Nature Photography. They cover: Insect photography—Alfred Renfro, FPSA; Close-up photography—Dr. B. J. Kasten, FPSA; Sequence shots and the "how and why"—Lou Quitt, APSA and H. Lou Gibson, FPSA; Bird photography—Warren Savary, FPSA; and, the creation of outdoor conditions inside—Ruth Sage Bennett, FPSA.

How else, except through RLP, could your camera club have six of the country's top nature photographers speak to it? Remember that the pictures you will see in an RLP are as large as your club's screen. Everyone has an equal chance of viewing and learning. The five lectures we've just mentioned have tapes of just under one hour's running time. This allows ample time for a group discussion following the lecture. There is also an opportunity to repeat the most important parts of a lecture a second or third time if desired.

If your club has never used an RLP lecture we suggest you contact Dr. Martin Yalisove, 912 Wilmington Ave., Wilmington 5, Del. If your club is one of over 700 using our lectures, write to your own Area Distributor for RLP. He has many years of experience with camera club programming problems. He can give you much helpful advice on how to work out a complete educational schedule tailored to your particular needs. ●

Pictures on Display

Here's a convenient way to display prints for friends and family. You'll learn more about your own work, too, if you have a chance to see it every day

By HAPPY HAMILTON

Chairman, PD Color Print Contest

LIKE MANY workers in the field of photography I found myself with an ever-increasing accumulation of mounted prints. These had been made for camera club competitions and exhibitions. Also, there were many smaller prints made up as proofs that could be viewed in 16 x 20 cut-out mounts. All these were stacked in my overflowing darkroom or under the desk in the study.

I am most fortunate in having a large and cooperative family, who like to keep track of the new pictures I am working on, and see what progress, if any, is being made. But in order to show the pictures it meant sorting through piles of prints and then putting them up for viewing on tables and chairs. Finally the need for some kind of permanent display place was obvious, and here I was lucky to have bare wood walls in the dining room that would make a perfect background for both black-and-white and color prints.

The next step was to have very simple moulding strips cut to hold 16 x 20 mounts under glass. Since the strips are almost 20 inches apart, the glass is necessary for any horizontal prints. It is also a great help in keeping the vertical mounts flat. The moulding strips, of one and one-eighth by five-eighths lumber, were cut to the length of the wall. These were then rabbetted to allow the mount and the glass to slip up under the top moulding and then drop into place in the lower one. See the accompanying diagram for dimensions.

This permanent but ever-changing picture gallery is a source of great interest to everyone who comes to the house. And again, I am lucky that my family and friends do not hesitate to give me their frank opinions of the work displayed. Reaction like this, as you know, is most helpful to any serious photographer. •

The Diffuser

Is there something in photography about which you feel very keenly? Would you like to pick up your pen, mount a white charger, and be off to slay a dragon? Then write to The Diffuser. Letters should be brief, concise and limited to a single subject. Only signed communications will be considered, but writers' names will be withheld if they so request. Address your letters to The Diffuser, PSA Journal, 1822 Leland Ave., Chicago 40, Ill. We can't guarantee to publish every one, but will try to present a cross-section of members' thinking each month as space permits.—ED.

Organization vs. Creativity

It seems I am involved in a personal debate—I want to be more a club member vs. I want to be less a club member. Because I am a member of PSA, I would like to present a small sketch of this odd sounding dilemma. The subtraction of my name from the PSA roll would not be a great loss, but the posed question is valid for each member. Consideration of the question and arrival at some answers can affect the vitality of our Society.

Camera club membership accelerated the development of whatever photographic skill I possess and multiplied the productivity from it. However, after a decade of such membership, I have found that my better work, both in prints and slides, comes not from club activity, but from very personal, private labors.

This has led me to think of other creative photographic friends who indicate very similar things. One of these friends shows great zest in manipulating light and images. His results are consistently striking and frequently off-beat. His spoken attitude is that he doesn't much care what the camera club thinks of his work, but he continues to present it and he is high in point scoring much of the time.

Another one maintains two separate classifications of photographic endeavor, one for camera club competition and the other for personal development, experimentation and creativity. This latter classification is never shown to the camera club and only rarely to individuals. His camera club work is more successful than that of most others.

These observations have made me remember some other conversations, non-photographic in nature. One friend, a rubber chemist, told of having a troublesome work problem. He got a flash of insight into the problem on a Saturday while he was mowing his lawn. He went to the lab and this insight opened the door to a solution of the problem. Others have made similar reports of problem solving on insight while doing other things, tinkering with a hi-fi set, bathing a baby, and I have had such insights while driving or noodling the piano.

William H. Whyte deals with this phenomenon at length in his book, The Organization Man. He points out that companies interested in pursuing research, find it profitable to give their creative workers more time to themselves for individual research and creative activity. This has resulted in reciprocal benefits to the companies and to the individuals. The employer attracts better creative men who feel more appreciated and respected. The individuals produce a higher level both in quantity and quality of work.

Several months ago an editorial roused my ire when I assumed it contained a harsh criticism of PSA. The editorial decried the unprogressive nature of salons. I then did considerable picture examination through photographic magazines including PSA JOURNAL and others, journalistic magazines, trade papers and business magazines, looking at both editorial photography and advertising photography. Some of these sources went back as far as 1940, most of them to the middle and early fifties. In my examination, I did not try to determine whether photography was better or worse, but only to find some indications of change.

KODAK MOTORMATIC 35 CAMERA

Kodak
TRADE MARK

In my opinion, advertising and journalistic photography changed the most and PSA photography changed the least.

My question now becomes, "Is it right for one of the largest organizations of highly talented photographers to be the most slowly evolving source of creative, vital activity among the groups which influence photographic taste and progress?"

Specifically to answer my opening question to myself and the implied question posed by organization photography vis-a-vis independent photography, I offer this: Pursue club activity and competition for the social benefit and the stimulus you will get from association with and competition against others, but for your greater personal development, extend your skills by exercising your imagination toward a goal of uncovering hitherto unseen images. If this is accomplished, your photography organization, whether a local club or PSA, can be a collateral beneficiary.

Speed trap ahead!

Each year a number of our members head for the Southland, and a great many probably still take the old favorite Route No. 1. It might be well to heed a notice I recently found in Argosy magazine. It warned that No. 1 is well covered with electric timers, with police on the job, vigorously enforcing the speed limits with an average fine of $33.50. . . .

Maybe a psychiatrist . . .

Mrs. Koch's article "Give Those Points Meaning" (page 36, November 1960 issue) was very interesting and well written and I have done a lot of thinking about this matter. Most interesting did I find the schedule she gives (reproduced below)

Round No. 1	Round No. 2	Round No. 3	Round No. 4	Totals
12... 0	12... 0	12... 0	12... 0	0
11... 1	11... 3	11... 0	11... 1	5
10... 13	10... 11	10... 5	10... 5	37
9... 63	9... 35	9... 33	9... 15	109
8... 55	8... 65	8... 82	8... 49	261
7... 118	7... 113	7... 131	7... 102	464
6... 96	6... 119	6... 132	6... 143	492
5... 97	5... 95	5... 102	5... 112	406
4... 64	4... 70	4... 62	4... 81	277
3... 31	3... 36	3... 34	3... 62	163

with the ratings in the four rounds of the judging. In the higher point range there is a definite trend from high to low scores as the judging progresses from first to fourth round. . . . I added up the totals of points in each round with this result:

1st—3636 3rd—3442
2nd—3526 4th—3257

There is a difference of almost 400 points between rounds one and four. Do most exhibitors number their best slides No. 1 and so on down to No. 4? Or could it be that the judges, the more tired they get, think the slides get worse? Maybe a psychiatrist is necessary to solve the problem. I would like to know the reaction of Mrs. Koch and other exhibitors to this. As always I enjoyed the last issue very much. . . .

New pictures vs. proven ones

To some of us it seems a bit unbalanced to base the awarding of Star Ratings on the total number of acceptances of prints in PSA-approved salons. I understand that occasionally an exhibitor will find one or more of his pictures generally acceptable and will then flood the salons with copies, providing himself with a large number of hangings at little extra work and photographic effort.

It occurs to me that a new class of ratings might be based on the number of first-time acceptances only—that is, the number of new subjects accepted by salons. This would be a good rating for the photographers who are most active and pro-

Lets you take 10 shots in 10 seconds

Power advances film, electric eye controls exposure for you... automatically

Shoot and listen.

That gentle buzz-z-z you hear, if you listen closely, is spring power advancing the film, cocking the shutter, counting the exposure.

You can keep the Kodak Motomatic 35 Camera at your eye while you shoot action sequences. It allows you to get additional shots while mood or action is at a peak.

You can click off ten shots in ten seconds, if you wish. Wind up the power drive and you're ready for ten more.

No exposure worries. While you keep your eye on action, an electric eye automatically keeps exposure right. It sets the Lumenized f/2.8 lens according to the lighting. And it compensates automatically for your choice of shutter speeds, from 1/40 to 1/250.

Meter dial adjusts for film speeds up to ASA 800, so you can use fast films such as the new improved Kodak Tri-X Pan.

When light's too dim, you see a signal in the finder. It automatically tells you to try a slower shutter speed or switch to flash.

Automatic flash control. No mental arithmetic involved in shooting flash. A new flash control sets the lens opening automatically for correct exposure as you focus, in the 5- to 25-foot range.

The Kodak Motomatic 35 Camera also provides the full manual exposure control you need to shoot under contrasty side or back light conditions, to under- or overexpose deliberately for special effects.

Focusing is fast—by footage scale or with click stops for basic zones. A signal in the finder tells if you're set for close-ups, groups, scenes. You can focus without lowering the camera from your eye.

First chance you get, put this new Kodak Motomatic 35 Camera through its paces at your dealer's. See for yourself how everything on it is designed to help you shoot swiftly, expertly.

Costs less than $110. About $12 down closes the deal at most dealers'.

•Each Division of PSA has established a minimum number of pictures, as well as acceptances, required to qualify for its Star Ratings. Thus a 1-star Pictorial exhibitor, for example, must score at least 30 acceptances with no fewer than six different prints. As the ratings go up, this permissible ratio of acceptances to prints remains around 5 to 1. Is this ratio too high? Reducing it to 1 to 1 might stimulate the making of more different pictures. On the other hand, however, how many acceptances does it take to prove that a print or slide is really good? Is one enough? Granted that both pictures have been submitted 10 times, is one with 10 acceptances better than one accepted only once? Is it 10 times better? We don't know the answers, but these are some of the things to think about in any attempt to evaluate our rating systems.—Ed.

Community Service in Trenton

The Trenton (N. J.) CC was asked to display a collection of black-and-white prints in the Trenton Boys Club during December, where it is hoped to stimulate interest in photography. The display was later to be shown at the Good Neighbor room of Lit Brothers Dept. Store. The Council on Human Relations, a U.F. agency, has also asked the TCC to help in assembling a group of color slides demonstrating that persons of all creeds, races and national origin can work together and play together. From the Trenton CC "Gadget Bag."

Fun And Finances

In the old days it was "Give 'till it hurts." The Pictorial Photographers of America, 115 E. 40 St., New York City, has changed this motto to: "Give 'till it hurts from laughing."

Fun, festivities and friendship in the spirit of Christmas replaced the usual mid-monthly December meeting. After a catered buffet supper (costing less than one ordinarily spends in a restaurant), a Chinese auction was held. Photographic "white elephant" equipment was donated, auctioned, and bid for by the members with the proceeds going to the club treasury. Antics of the auctioneer put everyone in a maganimous mood and the laughter was well worth the pain of empty pockets.

Bradenton (Fla.) CC

The new season got off to a good start for the Bradenton CC, Robert B. Porter, Pres., with a black-and-white exhibition in the Art Center which was judged by Harold H. Higgins. An added feature was a set of novelty prints by Talbot Brewer in which the animal "subjects" were eroded coral, shells and rocks bearing a striking resemblance to small animals. Also shown was a color slide sequence, assembled from members' slides, with a taped commentary by Bob Porter. Recent events included a field trip to the new Bradenton Cabana, where pretty models were featured in a fashion show, and assigned subject color contest with churches as the category. In this vicinity we have a wealth of material, but the Tampa harbor holds an unflagging fascination for many camera aficionados, as do the fish houses at Cortez, and some fine shots in color and black-and-white have been made at both places.

Winchendon, Mass.

A series of lectures has been planned for the winter months at the Clark Memorial in Winchendon by the Wachusett CC Council. Starting on February 16, programs will include such speakers as Daniel Farber of Worcester, John Collis and Leslie A. Campbell, APSA, of Belcher-town and John Vondell, FPSA, of Hadley. Everett Murchie of Fitchburg is chairman of the Council.—From the Lens CC of Fitchburg Bulletin.

Spare Time No Problem

One characteristic of PSA members is their apparently inexhaustible energy and willingness to devote time to others while keeping up a variety of projects of their own. Such a person is Harold E. Berry of Natick, Mass., who is speaking before the Boston YMCA CC Feb. 14, on Diversification in Photography, showing color-slide work in sandwich, montage, derivation and other manipulations of transparencies. Berry is a 3-star Nature and 1-star Color exhibitor, took 1st in his own club (Boston CC) in 1960 Portraits and Color, and 1st in Class A Slide-of-the-Year at the big NECCC Outing, which drew 1900 or more fans last July. Berry does enough commercial work to "support the hobby" and still has enough energy to assist the smaller club in true PSA spirit.—William F. Potter reporting.

Northeastern Ohio CCC

The Northeastern Camera Club Council, Cleveland, Ohio, has completed its first year. The Council now has 17 member clubs with a combined membership of over 500 amateur photographers. During 1960 the Council has held an Inter-club Print Competition, and Inter-club Color Slide Competition, and a picnic and field trip which were well attended. A list of capable judges in both monochrome and color has been compiled from within the Council membership, together with a list of speakers and programs available to member clubs upon request.

Much credit for the Council's successful beginning is due to the capable leadership of its organizer and first president, W. J. Meyer (Cleveland PS). This year's officers are: Alicia M. Roof (CC of Cleveland), President; Jeanne Urban (Cleveland PS), Vice-President; Alice Connell (BelTel CC), Secretary-Treasurer. The new officers are working on the Council's second year program and hope to accelerate activities and enlarge upon the services available to its members.—Alicia M. Roof reporting.

The annual Christmas party of the Amateur Movie Society of Bergen County took place December 12 at the club's quarters in the Teaneck Town House, Teaneck, N. They are: Herbert Felton, Bergenfield, President; Moe Joffe, Hackensack, Vice-President; Edward Bonnette, Bergenfield, Corresponding Secretary; Douglas Hallett, Bergenfield, Recording Secretary, and Arthur Carlson, Teaneck, Treasurer. This club specializes in movie making and featured a course of monthly lectures and demonstrations in various phases of the art of cinematography.—Bill Messner, APSA, AACL, reporting.

Bring new life to your 8mm movies with sound

New Kodak Sound 8 Projector records words, music, sound effects; plays back with matchless fidelity

It's as easy as using a tape recorder.

With the Kodak Sound 8 Projector you can add your children's laughing, singing voices to movies you've taken at their parties.

You can add the thunder of racing engines to footage you shoot at sports car races.

Your travel movies can echo with Swiss yodels, calypso drums, or the chimes of Big Ben.

Mix a variety of sounds. The Kodak Sound 8 Projector lets you record a mixture of words, music, and sound effects on a 30 mil stripe of magnetic oxide added to the edge of your 8mm film.

As the Kodak Sound 8 projects your striped film, you can use the microphone that's standard equipment to record commentary.

Using a record player or tape recorder, you can also record music right on the film—separately or as background.

Match sound to action. A sound drive that starts and stops with split-second speed keeps the sound in step with the action on your screen. As with a magnetic tape recorder, you can erase and re-record until you are satisfied.

Your big thrill will come with your first playback. You'll hear sound fidelity unmatched in the 8mm field, rarely excelled by 16mm equipment. The two big reasons for this bell-clear sound are:

1. A recording head made of Alfenol, an incredibly durable alloy of iron and aluminum that will last for thousands of hours. It records only on the center of the magnetic stripe, avoiding the audio distortions that come from sound placed too near the edges.

2. A balanced sound system. The amplifier operates at the power level that produces the best possible sound from the built-in oval speaker—with power enough for any external speaker, too.

Playback is free of squeaky highs and muddy lows.

See a superb picture. With the Kodak Sound 8 Projector you can show silent or magnetic sound movies up to five feet wide and still keep them brightly detailed. While recording, you can project at a low-light level to economize on lamp-hours. For a performance, you can switch to full brilliance.

There are controls for forward and reverse projection, and for "stills." Power rewind of 400 feet of film takes less than 50 seconds. Project at 16 or 24 fps. The projector will never need oiling.

See and hear the Kodak Sound 8 Projector in action at your Kodak dealer's soon. And just think—for less than $40 down, in most cases, you can be making your own 8mm sound movies.

Kodak Sound 8 Projector with speaker, microphone, and phone connector cord, in a single case, less than $350.

Boise Camera Club

R. V. Horner, APSA, reports that the Boise Camera Club is rapidly becoming a travel club also. Last summer they made a bus trip to Canada and now plans are complete for one to the Southern states. This group will leave Boise by motor coach the morning of Feb. 18 and spend that night in Reno. The next two nights they will be in Death Valley at Stove Pipe Wells and Furnace Creek Inn. From there, they go to Los Angeles and will visit Hollywood and Disneyland among other places. The return trip will be via Las Vegas. They plan to have a large sign on each side of the bus announcing that it is the "Boise Camera Club."

Bay Area Camera and Movie Clubs, The Northern California Council of Camera Clubs, Dealers, The Convention and Tourist Bureau of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, and the Tribune cooperated in this expression of appreciation and gratitude for his devotion and tireless efforts in promoting photography in all its many phases for the past ten years.

Camera Clubs, Council events, PSA, judgments, new trends in photographic equipment, and in fact everything that is of interest to the thousands of amateur as well as the professional photographers is fully covered each week in Les's column.

Leave It To The Gals

A bulletin called The Chatterbox, published monthly by the Sunset Camera Club, came to us in December. It was an outstanding novelty and work of art. This little club in San Francisco has all lady officers.

On the cover of The Chatterbox was old Santa in color and with real whiskers. Looking into its pages, we find Santa again on page one, this time with a greeting to yel-de-ed. Real prints of the club's activities are pasted on page two, and a colored bell with real tinsel ribbon is attached at the top of page three. On pages four and five we found more colored pix of the Christmas theme, as on all eight pages, not forgetting old Rudolph with his red nose and ending with a Happy New Year splash in color. Perhaps the Gals are the only photogs who would put out such a splendid bulletin.

A Wonderful Field Trip

The El Camino Pictorialists of Los Angeles joined with the Glendora Club and the Wind and Sun Council recently for a field trip to the Kelso Dunes in Southern California. The Dunes are located off Highway 66, leaving the highway at Baker or near Amboy. The Dunes are some of the highest in the West and do not shift position. They have grasses and other vegetation growing almost to their tops in places, which gives many opportunities for pattern pictures. There are two motels in Amboy if any photographer wishes to stay overnight.

Members Present Themselves

Marguerite Gregory reports that the meeting of the Palm Springs, Calif., Camera Club offered something different with a "getting to know you" kind of program. Accepting the old saying in camera clubs that we know one another by our pictures, the program, We Present Ourselves, was arranged in three parts, "The Beginning," "The Middle," and "The End." In the first section all new members introduced themselves with a showing of some of their choice slides. The old members and their slides, with informal commentary and happy-to-have-you remarks aimed toward the newcomers, made up the middle part of the program. "The End" was presented by Denny Grant, APSA, with a collection of 50 new slides made during a Fall color photographic jaunt in Pennsylvania earlier in the season.

Winifred Van Sickle reports that 39 black-and-white prints by 14 members of Film Pack CC of Vancouver, Wash., were on display at the American Music Store in September. In August this club put on a successful print exhibit at the Clark County Fair, invitations going to many other clubs of the Northwest.

Spokane CC members were privileged to take pictures underground in November during a field trip to Pend Orielle Mines and Metals at Metaline Falls. We also hear that one of their members, Bruce Carrick, has been appointed the new city library director.

Prints selected for the salon will comprise one section of a three-part exhibit on "The Art of City Planning" to be shown in the Living Arts section of the Denver Art Museum. The three sections of the exhibit will show generally the past, present, and future of cities. The show will open concurrently with the national convention of the American Society of Planning Officials to be held in Denver in May, 1961 and will continue through the summer months. With Kodak Polycontrast Papers the right contrast is simply a filter change away

All the contrast grades you need are built into every sheet of Kodak Polycontrast, Polycontrast Rapid, and PolyLure Papers. Seven contrast steps in every sheet!

You always have the right contrast paper on hand for each negative you enlarge—and that's the secret of producing good prints consistently.

Suit any negative. Normal contrast negatives print beautifully on Kodak Polycontrast Paper without the need for a Kodak Polycontrast Filter. Under white light this paper works like a regular No. 2 paper.

But when your negatives are on the hard or soft side of normal, you reach for a Polycontrast Filter—instead of going out to buy another grade of paper.

Slip Filter No. 1, 2, 3, or 4 under your enlarger lens, and you get the contrast you'd expect from paper grade No. 1, 2, 3, or 4. Simple.

What's more, Kodak Polycontrast Filters 1½, 2½, 3½ let you work with contrast grades you can't even buy in conventional papers.

These seven filters provide finger-tip control of contrast grades. End hunting for the right grade of paper. Keep you from wishing for a paper grade you're fresh out of.

Creative printing control. Using several Kodak Polycontrast Filters in sequence, with selective dodging, you can make good prints from "problem" negatives.

You can print a contrasty area of the negative through a No. 1 filter, a soft area through one of the higher contrast filters, bringing both to normal contrast. Or you can print your main subject normal contrast, then switch to another filter to alter the foreground or background effect.

Your reward, along with fewer darkroom problems: better looking prints. With rich, dense blacks. Bright highlights. Clean spacing of tones throughout the shadow range.

Paper economy. For all their convenience and versatility, Kodak Polycontrast Papers cost less to use than ordinary papers. For you can buy in money-saving large quantities. And you save the waste of odd grades of paper going stale.

The cost of the Kodak Polycontrast Filters is a one-time investment in darkroom convenience and economy. Make it soon at your dealer's.

Buying guide: Kodak Polycontrast Paper and Polycontrast Rapid (for twice the speed) come in all usual sizes, surfaces, single or double weight. Both have warm black tone similar to Kodak Medalist Paper. Kodak PolyLure Paper has warm brown tone, perfect for portraits.

Pacemaker Graphic® now available with GRAFLEX® 1000 SHUTTER

This outstanding shutter, now available on any Pacemaker Speed or Crown Graphic, may be purchased on new cameras or fitted to those already owned. It gives even more versatility and flexibility of operation to this "workhorse" of the press and professional photographer.

THE NEW GRAFLEX 1000 SHUTTER ADDS THESE NEW FEATURES TO THIS ALREADY FAMOUS CAMERA:

1. Extraordinary action-stopping ability . . . the Graflex 1000 admits more light in less time—at each speed from $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1000th and at all apertures.
2. Orbital action cuts more accurate, sharper "slices of light" . . . images are sharper—free from ghosting, color fringing and distortion.
3. Large conveniently located press-focus lever which opens both shutter blades and diaphragm leaves.

4. Easier, more convenient shutter cocking by means of a large shutter cocking ring that can be operated even with gloves on.
5. Click speed and diaphragm settings.
6. Shutter speed selection either before or after cocking.
7. M or X flash synchronization.
8. Built-in lens shade and filter holder.
9. All readings visible from the top.

The Graflex 1000 Shutter has a top speed of 1/1000th of a second with lens wide open, and is the fastest, most accurate between-the-lens shutter ever developed. It permits high speed pictures with complete uniformity of exposure without the limitations associated with other shutters. It produces sharper negatives because of its superior motion-stopping ability throughout the full shutter speed range.

For further information on Pacemaker Model 1000 or installing the Graflex 1000 Shutter on the Pacemaker 45, see your nearest Graflex dealer, or write Department M-21, Graflex, Inc., Rochester 3, New York.

WEATHER

"Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it."—attributed to Charles Dudley Warner, c. 1890.

From the East, Edward W. Hutchinson warns "Don't waste it."

PHOTOGRAPHERS do as much talking about the weather as anyone—probably more—but too few do anything about it. This is a pity, because photographers are lucky in being able to do something about it: they cannot change it, but they can use it.

I do not mean that in spite of poor weather they can look around and find some subjects which may still be worth shooting, although not at their best. I mean that photographers ought to go out in poor weather and look for subjects which actually owe their interest to the weather—rain, hail, fog, snow and so on.

It cannot be claimed that these subjects are easy to find, for the vibrant hues and chiaroscuro imparted by sunshine are the backbone of almost all natural light shots. It is also true that most editors and contest and exhibition judges favor sunny scenes. However, this adds to the challenge, makes success more gratifying.

One type of subject is generally recognized as better in bad weather—scenes of city streets and lights at night, which are improved by pavement reflections. This is true both in black-and-white and in color.

Equally well recognized for the photographic opportunities they offer are mist and fog, which are good both in town and country, in black-and-white or color, by day or by night. In these a strongly accented foreground object—figure, tree, street light (especially at night)—will emphasize the depth of objects beyond.

There are a variety of other subjects which may be lifted out of the ordinary by bad weather conditions. Shots taken in what I call "storm light" come first to mind. This is an early morning or late evening illumination, either just before or just after a storm, when deep gray clouds cover most of the sky and the low sun floods the scene with light. These directional rays and the storm clouds lend an unusual, dramatic effect to scenes. This is enhanced by the quality of the light which, due to the absence of blue from the sky, is

Fog at Riley's by the author shows the effect of depth achieved by placing a dark object in the foreground to make it stand out in contrast with more distant planes of the scene as they appear to recede into the mist.

Storm clouds darken the sky overhead and low lighting from near the horizon takes over to create a dramatic effect in this sailing picture by Jack Remde of Chicago.

During a blizzard Charles J. Luna of Medfield, Mass., shot this Boston scene with a compact Super Ikonota he always carries. The print has scored 47 acceptances.

Morning Ride by Rodger L. LaPelle of Philadelphia captured a misty mood to win a prize in the annual Graflex Contest.

Rain was falling when Charles Luna took this picture on a camera outing to New York. A plastic cover was used to shield his Rolleiflex from the wet between exposures.

After a storm the sun sometimes appears beneath heavy clouds to create dramatic side-lighting for sleet-covered subjects like those Ward Hutchinson has captured here.

golden—and increasingly so as the sun is low.

Let us note here that a gray sky without sunshine enhances some color values. All of the warm colors of the spectrum—yellows, reds and oranges, appear warmer because of the absence of blue light from the sky, which would “cool” them. Unfortunately, editors look for lively sunny shots that will make their readers feel cheerful, and the impact on judges of the multitude of sunny shots leaves them sluggish in appreciating the beauties of somberly glowing colors seen on a dull day. This should not discourage any conscientious photographer from trying to make good dull-day shots. How richly the leaves glow in the fall on a gray day! Complexions are excellent in cloudy-day outdoor portraits.

A kind of weather shot which can be as successful in monochrome as in color is of falling, windblown snow. On the other hand, after-the-storm snow scenes are hard to present well without sunshine. In black-and-white a strong design is necessary; tonal values do not carry much effect. Color is not so difficult, as very lovely and subtle color harmonies can be presented, either with or without an outstanding design.

One January afternoon, a few years ago, I went out to try the new Ektachrome 35-mm film. On my way home I saw a neighbor's barn framed by snow-plastered trees. Giving the subject various exposures, I soon finished the remaining shots on the roll. As I wanted to take more pictures of such a lovely scene, I had to hurry home for more film. This time I loaded with Kodachrome. Hurry as I might, when I returned to the scene the sun was covered by dark clouds and more snow seemed about to fall. However, there was a patch of apricot color in the sky among the blue-black clouds—a touch of final glory in a bleak, gloomy landscape. In spite of faults of composition, both the sunlit and the sunless versions of this scene have made outstanding exhibition records; both have won awards and medals; the sunless one sold for magazine reproduction. This pleased me especially, because the moody, storm-threatened aspect seemed far more interesting.

In this case, color made the difference. In black-and-white, the sunny version would have easily have out-ranked the sunless one.

Other weather opportunities come in the cold and damp, when breath and steam condense in the air. Horses are hard to find now, but still admirable is Stieglitz's The Terminal, made in 1892, of horses with steaming flanks pulling a trolley car—a beautiful example of this atmospheric effect. Incidentally, somewhat similar effects can be found in dusty or smoky places, such as cattle sales, night clubs, etc.

Whether you are using black-and-white or color films there is one rule to keep in mind: however poor the weather, however unpromising the possibilities may seem, go forth and don't forget your camera! •

WEATHER

From the West, Eleanor Irish says, "Capture it on film."

THE DAY when you can't take a good color picture without bright, sunny front lighting is gone. Today's salons show pictures taken in early morning, late evening, by lightning, by moonlight, by flash, by neon, by reflected light and other devious means including invisible light with Infrared film. If the weather is bad, the thing to do is capture it on film!

Try a shot in the rain, showing the reflection in the pavement of: people, a tree or trees, animals, birds, a car, a house, a bench, a building. Try both day and night shots. Use a tripod and a meter.

Try a shot to capture the swish of the rain itself, splashing in puddles, pelting down in slanting lines (keeping shutter speed slow), running in rivulets down a window pane . . . from the inside, to filter the world beyond, perhaps with a silhouetted child or pet in the foreground . . . from outside, to capture a child or pet or very old person gazing out.

Backlighting cobblestones glisten to provide a patterned background for this high-angle picture. Such shots can be planned by providing colorful raingear and umbrellas.

Try a shot of people in the rain, walking, standing, hunched or huddled, sitting, arms lifted as though enjoying it, kissing under an umbrella, puddle-jumping, two adults boosting a youngster over a puddle . . . with rain diffusion for a backdrop . . . or kids in boots splashing through the water. Try a long shot and a close-up of the dripping boots . . . or capture the water as it splashes on impact.

If the storm is at a distance and you can get the long, dark cloud line of a thunder-storm, lucky you. The moment when the sun breaks through, be ready. Then whirl to see if there's a picture behind you, where the light strikes rocks or hills. If you have time, take a meter reading; if not, bracket your shots. If you take from three to five pictures, at different f-stops, you're bound to have one good one.

Capitalize on the weather. Shoot vignettted outdoor portraits, with colored cellophane crinkled about your lens. Do this in soft lighting of fog or overcast, which gives good diffusion with no contrasty shadow areas.

Put a "sandwich" in your future, by building up a "weather file" of exposures suitable for this purpose. Take pictures of clouds and sky. Take them from all directions, to capture different lighting effects. Overexpose a stop or two, so your pictures won't be too dense when you bind two together for a montage.

Take pictures of fog . . . rain . . . lightning . . . sun through haze . . . trees against the overcast . . . sunrise and sunset and unusual lighting.

When you find days on the dunes, at the ocean or inland, with bald, uninteresting skies, don't put the camera away. Take your pictures, with lots of bald sky, and overexpose. Sandwich them later with a cloud or a sunset, and presto!—an interesting montage. Match up scene and sky with the lighting from the same direction . . . or add dramatic clouds, taken from another direction, to increase mood . . . study the mergers to determine if they contribute to the effectiveness of your picture or detract from it.

Sometimes it's best to ignore the weather. Suppose it's a gray, foggy day, with neither showers nor well defined clouds. This is the time to break out your flash and capture the beauty at your feet. At the ocean, tidal pools, with their brilliant starfish, colorful anemone and purple sea urchins, are best captured on overcast days, with no conflicting harsh shadows or glare on the water from the bright sun.

Flowers often appear at their best when taken with brilliant flash lighting on an overcast day. A small lens opening, $f/52$, will black out the background . . . $f/22$, $f/16$, $f/11$, $f/8$, or wider, will diffuse the background. Results produced by both methods are successful in color and nature slide salons.

Sometimes it pays to defy the weather. So it's snowing. Some of the best photographers have said, "You can't get a good snow picture without sun. You need the sparkle, cross-lighting or back-lighting, that only the sun can give."

This is a myth, exploded by people we know. The salons carry many pictures in color, as well as black-and-white, taken during storms, under the poorest lighting conditions, through blizzards . . . or from a vantage point above the storms (hill-tops or airplanes). One of our own

Floyd A. Irish captured soft colors in this rainy-day view of Stanford University's Memorial Chapel. The sky provided light for an exposure of $1/50$ sec. at $f/8$.

A dull day provided the makings for this "sandwich" slide. Its two parts (right) were deliberately overexposed to keep them light enough to provide normal color density in the water area when they were assembled together.

most successful flower close-ups was taken in a snowstorm, with electronic flash providing the sparkle! It will illuminate a small area with all the brilliance of the sun.

Even in a snowstorm, sunlight can be simulated. Illuminate your close-up by flashing from the front, off camera, using an f/22 or wider lens opening while holding a reflector to backlight the subject. (A six-inch hand mirror, available at drug and variety stores, makes a portable reflector to carry in the gadget bag.)

Whether the weather is foul or fair, pictures can be improved by finding a "gimmick," a "device to catch the eye" that can mean the difference between a successful and an unsuccessful photograph.

J. Elwood Armstrong, FPSA, commentator, once designated a "pictorial farm scene" for a PSA Assigned Subject Portfolio. Most of the fifteen members came in with prints of a whole farm. The man who moved in close, used only the open top of the barn door, framing a few bales of hay, not too symmetrically stacked, really completed the assignment.

This Month's Cover

A RAINY NIGHT on Fifth Avenue set the scene for this month's sparkling cover picture by Herbert Loebel, New York illustration photographer. It was taken with a 300-mm f/4 Sonnar lens, wide open, on a 2½x2½ Master Herbert Loebel on assignment for American Airlines at Boeing flight-test center, Seattle, Wash. He often uses long lenses like 500-mm Nikkor on his Hasselblad here.

Reflex camera with an exposure of 8 seconds. The red light held the traffic for the relatively long exposure. The telephoto was selected to permit shooting from a distant viewpoint, creating a compression effect that makes the lights seem more close together and making it possible to include the illuminated buildings at the top of the picture which contribute so much to the feeling of depth it achieves.

Loebel shoots with Kodacolor film because he prefers prints to transparencies and likes the darkroom control it gives him to manipulate color balance and contrast. When not doing professional work for such clients as Boeing Aircraft, Cadillac, Owens-Illinois, Texaco, American Railroads and the United States Air Force or covering assignments as staff photographer for American Heritage and Horizon magazines, he enjoys his own experimental color shooting and printing.

We are indebted to Popular Photography and to its Editor and Publisher Bruce Downes, APSA, for the use of the four-color printing plates from which this month's cover is reproduced.—ED.

Speedlight created a sunny-day effect in this close-up of manzanita blossoms taken on a dull day by Eleanor Irish.

That barn door treatment was his "gimmick."

When commenting on the prints, Mr. Armstrong recommended that one carry props . . . a wheelbarrow, an old straw hat, a suitable model (or set the camera on time and get into the picture yourself). In other words, plan your picture ahead of time and carry along the props necessary to work out your idea. If a colorful umbrella is needed, provide one. Don't leave it to chance.

What is true for print-makers is even more true for color slide photographers. The lines and forms, the lights and shadows, that may go to make up an adequate print often need an accent of color . . . a "gimmick" to carry a successful slide. In weather shots, one item of colorful rainwear can make a big difference.

In California, we have beautiful scenery, vast and wonderful, wide open spaces like the desert and the Death Valley Dunes . . . Yosemite, with lofty, magnificent scenes, like Half-Dome and El Capitan, the Three Brothers, Mirror Lake, and, in late spring, numerous waterfalls. Reproductions of these scenes on film, however beautiful, now have a hard time making the salons. Because California also has very good roads and trails, these scenes are available to too many people under the same fine conditions. Straight, fair-weather pictures of them fail to carry the uniqueness of treatment that will take them out of the record class.

What's needed? A "gimmick!" A rainy-day approach may provide the answer. Or take two shots of Vernal Falls, made by two San Jose area makers on the same hike. One took a straight shot, underexposing slightly, and the slide was successful only in nature salons. The other maker slipped on a yellow filter (and the slide that resulted has had several pictorial salon acceptances. The yellow filter was his "gimmick.")

Sand dunes are a favorite subject, both for black and white and color photographers. Anyone can learn to capture the curve of a dune . . . but it often takes a figure or object "gimmick" to give it scale and depth and to spark its interest. An old cow skull, carried by one photographer, is thrown casually into the foreground of many desert scenes he shoots. Another picks a proper curve and places a red, or yellow or white-jacketed figure in the crash point of the composition. It works, regardless of the weather.

These are simple "gimmicks" that can be dreamed up by anyone who takes the time to think them out and have props at hand before tripping

Give Your Color Slides a Chance

By MARGUERITE GREGORY

Illustrations by
Martin J. Schmidt

Transparencies stand a better chance of success if you evaluate them under standardized projection conditions, and of survival if you protect them from the danger of excessive projector heat

LET US CONSIDER poor screen illumination and hot projectors. How about putting an end, once and for all, to bad practices in our club meetings, in our own home programs and wherever any one of us has a responsibility in the handling and showing of color slides?

Ask yourself this question: how often in a club meeting have you seen your slide hit the screen, dull and drab, when you knew it was sharp and sparkling and its colors were really good? Did you complain right then and there? Probably not. Only once, while visiting a camera club—and I visit them every chance I get—have I heard a member complain that the slides of the evening seemed dark to him. Someone suggested perhaps the projector lamp was “tired” and should be replaced. I learned this club didn’t wait for a bulb to burn out; they replaced it when it seemed to be failing. Out came someone’s light meter, the illumination on the screen was measured and found sorely wanting, proper corrections were made and the program went happily on with everybody satisfied. Does that give you pause?

I can imagine every conscientious camera clubber reading this is now trying to remember when if ever he has seen screen illumination measured in his own club meeting. Yet it’s important. Too much light washes out delicate colors; too little leaves slides drab and dull. And it’s important to evaluate slides at home by the same illumination that will be used to judge them.

Several years ago on an entry form for an international exhibition was a notation that the slides would be judged at 20 foot candles. That did it. I couldn’t neglect this problem any longer. Now I knew I had to learn to read screen illumination by using my own meter. Since 1951 I’ve been checking entry forms, analyzing and criticizing my slides, recording their successes and failures, cropping, glass mounting, packaging and mailing, always with a wary eye on the calendar for deadlines and report dates, in order to hold in my sometimes weary hands my few bright and shining stars. Even so there have been many exhibitions when there was only one acceptance, often none at all, and rarely more than two. But, if I selected my slides with the same illumination that would be used when the jury looked at them, surely I could improve my chances in the internationals!

First, I turned to the instruction booklet that came with my G.E. PR 1 light meter but that didn't give me the answer. Then I turned to the letter I'd received from my friend in the camera club I'd visited. Bless him! His answer to my distressing wail had come pronto. He spelled it out, step by step. His last step said, in effect, "Now read your meter and figure your foot candles." Easy as pie? Oh no, not yet. That meter still had its familiar face, telling me exactly what I might do were I taking a picture. No foot candles gleamed at me. My voice was still faintly calling in the wilderness. If those marks on my meter could be interpreted as foot candles, my friend had neglected to tell me how.

Then I found the answer. On page 3 of the Jan.-Feb. 1959 issue of the Color Division Bulletin, by our good friend, Adolph Kohnert, APSA, then chairman of Aids and Standards, Color Division, was a short article titled, "Measuring Screen Illumination." If I told you in my own words, you still would want to see Adolph's article and probably wouldn't be able to find it. So, I shall quote it in its entirety. How about cutting it out and pasting it in your hat, or wherever such gems belong.

Fortunately, enough different kinds of meters are given in these instructions so that at least one kind can be found among your club members. So measure your screen illumination, correct your findings to 20 fc by moving the screen and projector closer together or farther apart as the need may be, and let us give our slides the light they are entitled to have. Let's not be whipped before the game begins.

- (1) Once you have arranged your equipment and have the correct illumination on the screen, measure the distance between screen and front of lens of the projector. Set up by this measurement in the future.
- (2) Measure the width of the projected picture on the screen when projected at proper illumination and set up

Measuring Screen Illumination

THE NEW RECOMMENDATIONS for judging slides are for 15 to 25 foot candles, using a beaded screen; 20 fc to be considered normal. (By specifying a beaded screen the reflectance factor is constant and we do not need to get into foot-lamberts.) These increases from the former recommendation of 10 fc are the results compiled from readings taken when judgments were actually in progress, under various conditions, such as screen size, room size, extraneous light, projection equipment, etc.

Make the test by setting up the projector and screen as it actually will be used, insert a slide in the projector and focus. Remove the slide. Take a position at the screen, holding the light meter as near the center of the screen as is possible; aim the light meter at the raw light from the projector.

With a Weston 735, 737 meter, have the baffle open; the reading will be approximately in foot candles.

With G.E. DW 48, 58, 68, remove hood; the reading will be in foot candles. With G.E. PR1, on the "low" scale, a reading of 2 is equal to 6 fc, a reading of 3 is 12 fc and a reading of 4 is 24 fc.

With Norwood Director, have photosphere on and slide out; measurements are in foot candles.

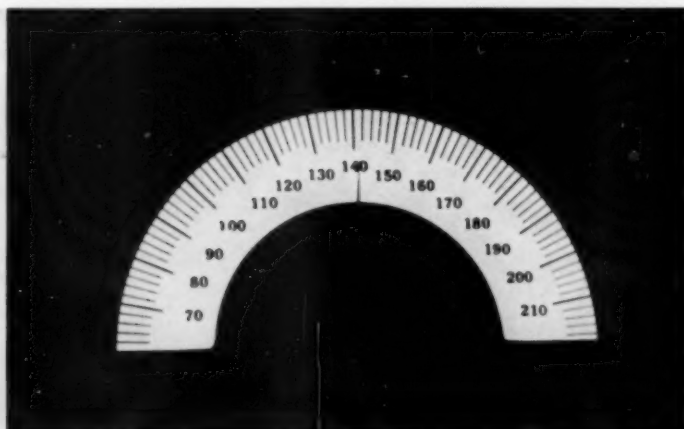

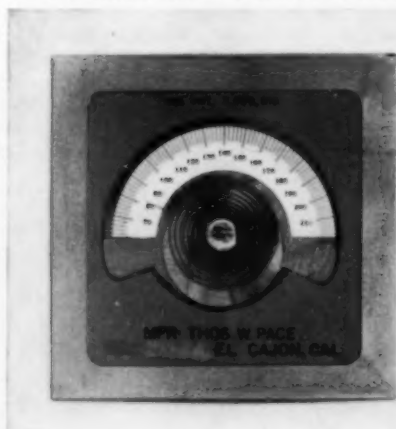

If you have any other type of meter, compare it with the above and work out an equivalent scale.

in future to conform to this dimension. Occasionally, of course, you'd want to re-check by the light meter method to be sure your bulb is holding its own in strength. This is an appropriate job for the properties chairman and his committee. They should arrive early, before the members, to get the equipment for the program properly placed and the chairs arranged for the members or audience. People don't like to be discommoded once they've settled themselves and when you have to upset some of the early birds who are having a happy visit together, you've already produced a nega-

The thermometer (left) is mounted in a frame the same size as a 2x2 slide and fits neatly into the slide carrier of a projector. Its scale and pointer are projected on the screen, where you can watch the pointer rise as the unit absorbs heat. The author has selected 150 degrees F. as her own maximum safe temperature for slide protection.

The Huntress

This sequel to the Song of the Cicada is the fascinating story of a Killer Wasp whose life cycle is tied together with that of its traditional victim

By LEN THURSTON, FPSA

Nature Editor

A WHILE AGO I wrote about the "Song of the Cicada." There is a postlude to the symphonic music of this summer songster. If you were successful with your Cicada photography last summer you might like to try your skill on a much more difficult subject next season.

The postlude is not an idyllic story of nymph transforming to a beautiful winged creature, and spending the rest of its life in song. Instead it is one of a huntress, a swift and merciless killer. It exemplifies the balance in nature that God has established. The huntress and her kind restrain the Cicada from becoming a serious pest. The song you will now learn to recognize will be the drone of purposeful, and seemingly angry wings of working wasps, and the sound is instinctively unpleasant to the human ear. If you get to know these wasps as well as your nature editor you will even be able to distinguish just by the pitch of the hum, the task the wasp is performing.

Cicada Killer Cocoons are of gray, papery material. The large one contains a larva destined to become a female; larvae in two smaller ones will develop into male wasps.

First may I dispel the fears of any who would photograph these large wasps. They are not quarrelsome. You may set up shop in the midst of their burrows, and never be molested. They will definitely be inquisitive, and will investigate you, your equipment, and the inside of your gadget bag. The nearest ones will even alight on you, and do a bit of exploring, but they will not sting you. In return I have never slapped at them. Let them explore and very soon you and your lights and cameras will be accepted as a part of the landscape—a handicap around which they must learn to navigate. I will talk about this later.

The Cicadas are already out in force when Cicada Killer Wasps suddenly make their appearance on a warm summer morning. Usually this is about three weeks after the first appearance of the Cicadas. You will be walking along a grassy knoll where the water never lays in the spring. The soil will likely be slightly sandy. Above you the song of the Cicada will be filling the air.

If you are lucky, and you come upon the Killers during their first day or two after emergence from the soil, you will find scores of very large black and yellow striped wasps swiftly darting hither and yon just above the surface of the grass. I call this the nuptial flight, although I do not know the name a trained naturalist might give this phenomenon.

Comparative size is demonstrated in this picture of the male and female of the species. Female is closer to the camera, sometimes is as much as twice as large as male.

Watch these erratic flights closely. In fact you had better assemble some camera equipment for close-up work. You will want to cover a field of view of about $2\frac{1}{2}$ by $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Use one strobe light only, for you cannot manage more, not even with a helper. There will be motion, so forget about using available light.

As you watch you will notice there are two sizes of these wasps. Many are almost twice as big as others. Those wise to the ways of nature will realize the larger ones are the females, and they are being pursued by the males.

You see a little knot of them fall to the ground. Grab that camera! I hope your strobe is charged and ready. You had better have all exposure and light distance calculations figured, for you will never get time to calculate now. All of these shots will be of the grab variety. There will be no chance to clean up the habitat. You had best move in with your camera to your eye until in critical focus, and fire. If you can get a tripod shot you are a fool for luck. The little knot of wasps will be one big female and three, four, or five males all in a heap. They will tumble around. One will be successful in mating with her.

"Cicada Killers Mating" is such a picture. It is not good, but you will shoot a lot of these before you get one that clearly shows just what is happening. Pray that the female shakes off a couple of the males as has happened in this picture. A Boy Scout held my strobe at the distance I suggested while I shot these pictures. It is doubtful if you will ever get one of these shots good enough to pass a nature jury if presented as an individual picture, but you likely will get one good enough to be one of a series on the Cicada Killer.

Your editor resorted to trickery to try and control some of these shots. He placed a wide-mouthed jar over the group, hoping to keep them in one spot for a proper and careful set-up, and expecting to shoot just as the jar was lifted. All I did was break up the group and the nuptial act. May I suggest that a tiny glass box with one side a simulated grass or sand background placed over the group might just possibly work? I intend to try it.

Making pictures of the huntress at her threshold will be easy. You will have lots of time for planning your shots. Among the grass you will find many little burrows, and in front of each a small mound of earth. In the mound will be a slightly concave road leading into the mouth of the tunnel. Each tunnel is the domain of Cicada Killer Excavating. Using its abdomen as a bulldozer, the female prepares a tunnel in which to lay its eggs. Cicadas stored with them provide food for young.

Ready for the Hunt. Poised at the mouth of completed burrow, the female is ready to go forth in search for the Cicadas essential to completion of its life cycle.

a huntress. Only a movie camera can do justice to what you will behold here; those of us who make color slides must be content with frozen motion.

It is best to watch the action at some of these burrows before you set up your equipment. It is always the same, and you will have plenty of time to plan. The best time is early morning. This is when the females always do their housekeeping to make ready for the day's kill. You will discover one backing out of the tunnel pushing a little pile of soil down the concave road with her abdomen, and then she will run, not walk, back into the hole. In two to three minutes she will be back with another load.

Camera and lights should be set up and focused on the concave road just outside the entrance. Remember there is always motion, and you will be working close; even though there is full sun it is difficult to use available light, for you must stop down to maximum to get all the depth of field possible. The wasp is about 1½ inches long, and if your picture is to be effective your maximum field of view will be about 2x3 inches. Obviously you cannot keep 2 inches in critical focus, and so the extremities of your picture will be soft. Critically focus just short of the spot you expect the wasp to reappear. Your editor uses two strobe heads, and since much of the wasp is black and light absorbing, I need a strong fill light. I place it about 1 1/3 the distance of my main light from the chosen spot.

Veteran nature workers of course will know that you do not make any allowance in your exposure calculations for sunlight. You should consider the reflective value of the soil thrown out of the tunnel, for it will vary according to dampness. I usually treat this subject as average. My Hershey lights have a guide number of 35 for Kodachrome, but on close-up work this drops to 28, and when working close I multiply this 28 by 12 to get a guide number of 336 so I can compute the distance of main light in inches. I stop down to f/22, and so 22 divided into 336 tells me that the main light should be a good 15 inches from my subject. Fill light at 1 1/3 this distance would place it at 20 inches. Actually I place it at a short 21 inches, and as near in line with camera and subject as possible.

"Cicada Killer Excavating" was made this way. Actually, I have quite a few of these shots. They are not hard to make—it's just a matter of waiting her out. A few grains of sand dropped down the burrow while she is in the tunnel will make her work a little longer. I never was stung for it either. Soon Mrs. Wasp will consider the excavating job complete and will come out head first. She may sit there at the mouth of the tunnel for a few moments surveying you and the surroundings. This is the position in which she is caught in "Ready for the Hunt."

She will now take to wing, first flying in tiny circles over the burrow, and then in ever widening circles from all directions over the tunnel and all around you and your equipment. She will continue this procedure for quite some time, finally going out of sight but returning from different directions, and back to the mouth of the tunnel. Likely she is familiarizing herself with a quick line of approach around all the obstacles of you and your equipment. She will need to for she will surely return heavily laden. Her prey will be a Cicada that she will paralyze with a sting, and she will fly it back to her tunnel.

Eventually on one of her disappearances she will not immediately return. She has flown into one of the Cicada-infested trees. It is time for you to await the return of the Killer and her prey. You could well use an electric eye to trip your shutter when she does, for you can be sure she will pass the spot you are focused on—the same spot in which you have already made her portrait.

When the Huntress returns you will hear her coming. The drone is different. You will recognize it, for it is a small version of the deep drone of a heavily laden transport plane. Before you know it she will hit the landing at the very mouth of her burrow and she will have scampered out of sight with her victim. If you have tripped the shutter at all you will be lucky even to have recorded a disappearing black abdomen.

Do not despair. She will take many more down this two-foot tunnel. The Cicadas are stored in side pockets off the main tunnel. Before she leaves again she will push out two to three more loads of soil. When she takes off this time she will go directly, for she has learned how to get around you, your cameras, and lights.

This time you had better play a mean trick on her if you want to make a picture of a Cicada Killer with paralyzed victim. Insert a little wad of grass at the very threshold of the tunnel. With it in place she must stop suddenly in full camera view.

Again you hear the heavy drone of laboring wings and you know she carries game. She carries the Cicada head first, and belly up beneath her. She hits the landing, and will pause long enough in utter surprise for you to make a picture. Your strobe will not recycle fast enough for another, for she has not read your nature guide that probably says she must volplane down from the trees with her Cicada since it is too heavy for her to fly with it. She will pick it up, and take off with it making a complete circle, I suppose thinking that somehow she has hit a wrong hole. Then she will plop down in about the same spot for another picture. I said about the same spot, for often on this second try she misses a little bit.

This time she will leave the Cicada, and will go to work on that obstruction. The Cicada seems dead, but I understand it is only paralyzed.

Even though you stoppered the hole ever so lightly, the wasp may seem unable to remove the grass easily. Eventually she will force her way underneath or through it, and then back it out using her abdomen as a bulldozer.

Once the tunnel is clear she will drag the Cicada to the entrance, and then back down the hole headfirst after her. You can make a picture of this, but I do not believe it is the natural way for them to enter with their prey.

The Cicadas are stacked in little pockets off the main tunnel. There are various numbers to the tunnel, sometimes one to a pocket, and sometimes two. They are stacked belly up. Professor Richard Malcomson, PSA, tells me that an egg is laid just behind the middle leg of each Cicada, and of course the hatched wasp larvae feed on the bodies of these insects. He also tells me that the larva that is only provided one Cicada becomes a male, and those with two in their pockets of the tunnel become females. In about ten days or maybe even less the larvae reach full size and pupate. The cocoons are gray and their material is papery.

"Cicada Killer Cocoons," shows a large one containing a future female. The other two will be males. They remain in this stage until Cicada season the next year, when they will break out and push up and out of the ground. I suspect they mostly do this at night.

Nature affords countless life cycles that are tied together as these two. It might be the Horntail and the Ichneumon fly; Aphids, Ants, and Lady Beetle, or it could even be the domestic cow and the Warble fly.

Action and strong story-telling pictures score high in our Nature exhibitions as indeed they should. Many of them are a great challenge to the skill of the photographer, and to his patience, too. You are likely to learn some things that do not jibe with your guide books. If you start out as a photographer you will find yourself fast becoming a naturalist. My story of the Huntress is ended, but I invite all photographers to become hunters with their cameras for good story-telling nature pictures. •

The POLAROIDEERS

This active club-within-a-club serves its membership in many ways

By FERNE GOOD

Photocrafters Club, Davenport, Ia.

Do YOUR CLUB members, even with a house-full of photo equipment, fail to take family pictures? Would you like to stimulate greater interest and participation in club activities on the part of members' spouses? Maybe a Polaroid group is the answer. We have seven "Polaroideers" among the 14 couples who make up the Photocrafters. We don't gripe about the lack of family snapshots; we just take them. We enjoy photography in our own way, uninhibited by the traditions of print and slide making.

The Polaroideers are mighty popular. On a field trip we're asked to take pictures on the spot to solve problems and settle arguments about lighting contrast and composition. At shooting sessions there's nothing like a gift picture, presented on the spot, to get a model into a good mood for posing. My husband Ray has some winning slides because Polaroid helped him first.

It all started among a group of us who didn't want to go into serious exhibition photography. I was especially resistant, although both Ray and our daughter Peg were in color competition. On a field trip I used a Polaroid camera and that did it! I received my "95B" and have been an avid fan ever since.

Grace Kuehl "knitted" herself a camera (she knits sweaters and earned her Polaroid that way). Irma Bolt sent Ted to get a special lens for her Exakta and—you guessed it—he came home with a Polaroid. Eva Jacobs asked Santa for one and Jake took the hint. So the group grew.

Very ambitious, we now have our own monthly competition which keeps us on our toes. We also have a yearly trophy. We plan on going into the darkroom to make some enlarged prints of our pictures for the CICA Salon. •

Family snaps get taken—Aunt Margaret reads a bedtime story to nieces Dana and Denise in this picture by the author. The Polaroideers set their own standards for competition. This shot took first place in November.

Prints serve to check lighting contrast and composition for color setups, as well as providing vacation records like Ted Bolt's picture of a day's catch in Minnesota.

A tabletop project resulted in this picture by Eva Jacobs. It won first place in a monthly print competition.

It's Official – PSA News of the Month

PSA ELECTIONS are held annually, with National Officers and Zone Directors taking office during odd-numbered years and Division Officers and District Representatives being named in even-numbered years. The slate for 1961 was prepared by the Nominating Committee under the chairmanship of O. E. Romig, FPSA, and submitted to Charles A. Kinsley, FPSA, Secretary, who has made it available for publication in this issue of the JOURNAL in accordance with Section 4 of Article VII of the Constitution and By-Laws of the Society:

Officers

President..... Robert J. Goldman, APSA, Glen Head, N. Y.
Executive Vice-President..... Nestor Barrett, FPSA, San Jose, Calif.
Services Vice-President..... Joe E. Kennedy, FPSA, Tulsa, Okla.
Conventions Vice-President..... George F. Johnson, FPSA, University Park, Pa.
Editorial Vice-President..... A. Millard Armstrong, APSA, Columbus, Ohio
Membership Vice-President..... T. T. Holden, FPSA, Rochester, N. Y.
Secretary..... Charles A. Kinsley, FPSA, Rochester, N. Y.
Treasurer..... Charles Heller, Hon. PSA, FPSA, Wynnewood, Pa.

Zone Directors

Eastern..... George W. Parker, APSA, Albany, N. Y.
Central..... W. H. Shorey, APSA, Davenport, Ia.
Western..... DeWitt Bishop, APSA, Sacramento, Calif.
Canadian..... Walter F. Wood, FPSA, Montreal, Quebec

Under Article VII of the PSA By-Laws, Section 5 et seq., petition nominations may be filed with the Secretary for additional candidates for any of the offices listed above. The procedure is described in the Constitution and By-Laws, published in the Directory portion of this issue.

If offices remain uncontested, the Secretary is authorized to cast the ballot of the entire Society for nominees on the official slate and they shall be declared elected. If there are additional nominations for any office, the Elections Committee must have ballots printed and conduct the election by mail. Offices seldom have been contested in recent years, and there are many members of the Society who have never been asked to cast a ballot. The nominees elected in 1961 will take office at the conclusion of the annual convention at New York in September.

PSAers in the News

Hartford Town Meeting in November heard George Munz, FPSA (above) of Bergenfield, N. J., Chairman of the 1961 Convention at New York in September. At the banquet (below) Henry Greenhood, APSA (left, standing), Chairman of the Service Awards Committee, presented the PSA Service Medal to Alex Patamianos, District Representative. In the foreground are Allan B. Conklin, Area Representative and Town Meeting Chairman, and Mrs. Conklin. Photos by Robert Strindberg of Hartford.

Progress Report from Headquarters

Early in January the exterior face-lifting of PSA Headquarters at 2005 Walnut St. in Philadelphia was virtually finished, and plasterers and painters were at work on the interior of the building. J. Joseph DeCourcelle, APSA, Headquarters Chairman, took these pictures Jan. 5. At that time the first floor had been vacated to facilitate the work while Executive Secretary Randolph Wright Jr., APSA, shared his second-floor office with painters. Plans call for completing the renovation for a board meeting and open house on Saturday, April 22.

PSA Members Again Head Standards Board

Paul Arnold, Hon. PSA, APSA, of Ansco, and John G. Mulder, Hon. PSA, FPSA, of Eastman Kodak, have been reelected chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the Photographic Standards Board of the American Standards Association.

PSB is composed of representatives of six ASA Sectional Committees, as follows: PH1 – Photographic Films, Plates and Papers; PH2–Photographic Sensitometry; PH3– Photographic Apparatus; PH4—Photographic Processing; PH5—Photographic Reproduction of Documents; PH22—Standards for Motion Pictures. The Photographic Society of America is represented on PSB, with Muarice H. Louis, Hon. PSA, FPSA, acting in that capacity.

Obituaries

Newton Miller, Ph.D., M.D.

Dr. Newton Miller of Porterville, Calif., died Jan. 8. He was nearly 82 years old, had practiced medicine over 50 years, and was active in his work and in photography until the day of his death. It was Dr. Miller whose advice inspired the article "Prescription for Well Being" in the November, 1960 issue of the JOURNAL, written by his close friend and camera companion, A. H. Hilton, APSA, Western Zone Editor. He was a member of the Camera Vagabonds and the Porterville Photography Club, and a PSAer since 1954.

Ellery V. Wilcox, APSA

Funeral services for Ellery V. Wilcox, APSA, were conducted Dec. 16 at Scotland, S. D., where he had made his home for over 50 years. He suffered a stroke in August and had been ill ever since.

He was nearly 78 years old. He joined PSA in 1941, and upon retirement from his work as a professional photographer and artist a few years later he became active in Pictorial Portfolios and was a long-time member of Control Process No. 1 and Commentator of Control Process No. 2.

Mrs. Rae McIntyre, 14613-95th Ave., Edmonton, Alta., secretary of this activity, writes saying some applications already are on hand for a second print group, and a third slide group. These study groups, she explains, are for beginners and experienced nature workers, both. She would like to interest some of those who already exhibit, but a member does not need to be interested in exhibiting to get a great deal of enjoyment in the circuits. There are several members who merely want to improve their work, rather than enter exhibitions.

These circuits are based in Canada, so members do not run into any bothersome customs routines. Joining is simple enough. A letter to Rae will quickly get you on your way to participation in this intriguing PSA activity.

LEITZ ADDS A NEW DIMENSION TO REFLEX PHOTOGRAPHY

The best features of reflex and rangefinder cameras combined in a single camera.

If you're trying to decide between a reflex or a rangefinder camera—and want to enjoy the advantages of both—you should know about this advance by Leica.

On the ground glass of the Leica reflex unit you see an image that is clearer than in any other reflex system—it's as if you're looking at a life-like color transparency! It's so easy to focus on a tiny highlight in a person's eye even though his full figure is seen on the ground glass. And the sharpness of the subjects seen on this exceptionally fine-grain, high-resolution ground glass permits viewing and focusing even under the poorest lighting conditions.

For reflex photography, the Leica reflex unit offers even greater light transmission in through-the-lens viewing, thus permitting faster, easier focusing even under the most adverse lighting conditions. It also features large field, magnified viewing, especially convenient for those who wear glasses.

Whether you want to get an extreme close-up of a tiny insect or distant mountain peaks against the horizon on a full negative size—the new Leica reflex unit is the perfect answer. And you can use any lens from 65mm to 400mm (90mm—125mm—135mm—200mm). When the superior accuracy of rangefinder focusing is desired, you can use wide-angle lenses like the 21mm, 28mm or 35mm, or when lenses of 50mm, 90mm, or 135mm are called for—the Leica camera has no peer. You can also use these same lenses for extreme close-up macrophotography with the reflex unit.

The Leica with the reflex unit enables you to make the fullest use of all the equipment you own, offering a number of solutions to the same problem...as well as protecting your investment in your equipment. Virtually any thread-mounted lenses you own (plus a bayonet adapter) can now have unlimited use. With the Leica Visoflex II and the M-2 or M-3 camera, you can now photograph any size subject, from any distance, without owning a whole new set of lenses.

And when it comes to handling this compact, featherweight reflex unit, it fits as snugly to the camera as one would want. It's really a miracle of modern design, using the strongest, lightest, alloy metals and embodying an optical system no reflex camera can match for simplicity in performance.

You can switch from reflex through-the-lens photography to rangefinder shooting in a simple, easy change in only a matter of seconds.

Your local Leica dealer will be glad to show you this unique dual-system of combined reflex and rangefinder photography. And whether you prefer through-the-lens viewing and focusing in single-lens reflex photography with the Visoflex II or the superior focusing accuracy of a rangefinder camera—you can now get both in this new flexible and economical system of photography.

Remember, your Leica dealer is the best photographic friend you can have. He's always willing to give you professional advice on any of your photo-

For rangefinder photography, the Leica M-2 and M-3 have the brightest image of all rangefinder cameras. As a result, they can be focused very rapidly and permit clear, bright viewing at night or indoors where light is extremely dim.

CC International Slide Competitions

Blossom Caron, Wally Wood and Henri Vautelet judged the December Club slide competitions in class C1, with assistance from Montreal CC Pres. H. R. Willmott, Mrs. H. R. W., and Alex Dockerty.

One comment points out that many of the U. S. entries contained U. S. postage stamps for return of the entries. These cannot be used for mailing packages from Canada. Canadians, too, often make the mistake of sending Can. postage stamps for the return of slide and other packages from the U. S. Where small postage amounts are concerned a silver coin, Can. or U. S., readily interchangeable, will solve the prepay postage problem.

Club Incentives

Incentives always have been proven a stimulant to club attendance and activity. This season Toronto CC has an eleven point program which includes the following: Trophies each for the season's top print, color slide and nature slide. A trophy for the top aggregate score in any two of these divisions. Another trophy for the most recognizable progress, interest and cooperation in club activities. Beginners prizes for the best print and color slide. Print, color and nature medals for the highest aggregate score at regular club competitions.

A small, engraved silver coaster is now given in place of former ribbons to the maker of the top print, color slide and nature slide in monthly competitions, as well as to runners up in the season's final contests. In addition special awards of club pins, bronze, silver and gold respectively will be presented annually to members with 5, 10 and 25 honor entries during regular club contests.

Toronto

Members of Toronto CC made an excellent showing in recent Hadassah and Royal Winter Fair photo competitions. Edith Verity had the top print in Hadassah, thus earning a complimentary week end in New York for two. A Hector Farah print was second. In color, Kay McGregor had the second place slide.

In the Royal Winter Fair show Edith Verity had the fifth place print and the third prize color slide. John Lawson, June Brown and Evelyn Andrus all picked up cash prizes in the print show.

Toronto Guild for Color Photography has started a "Bank of Ideas" Travel Bureau. The Guild has many widely traveled members, and has accumulated a huge deposit of ideas not only of new places to go, but also of the kind of photographic subjects available in many places in Canada and abroad.

In this connection T.G.C.P. bulletin, Local Color, runs regular travel stories for information of members. December issue covered the Fjords of Norway, explains that to be of service handing out information, it's got to keep information coming in. So . . . this Travel "Bank of Ideas" needs depositors. Phone or write T.G.C.P.'s Travel Editor, Irene Blatherwick.

All of which, for sure, is a plus Camera Club service. The Club's Photo Travel Group is one of 9 monthly workshop services of T.G.C.P., meeting regularly.

Brantford

One of Brantford CC's original type of contests is the Ernie Goose Competition in which a trophy is awarded annually for "A print you can live with." Selection of this was part of Brantford CC's Christmas activities, a feature of which, as a suitable complement to the naming of the winner of the Ernie Goose trophy, was a buffet meal of roast turkey. As reported in BCC's Tripod Topics, the latter was supplied for the benefit of those members "who are not quite so active in the darkroom, but do very well in the diningroom."

Popular winner of the evening was Mrs. Frank R. Conklin, rapidly mounting star exhibitor. She holds the Ernie Goose trophy for one year, and can remember it through the small replica added to her personal collection of photo awards.

It takes a notable news item to make a main woman's page spread in Toronto's daily newspaper, the Globe and Mail. But the story of the Ernie Goose trophy and its capture by Mrs. Conklin, replete with picture, was a notable attention getter calling for hearty congratulations.

Incidentally, Brantford CC has simplified the routine of becoming a member. Anyone interested in photography may attend meetings as a guest, and participate in all activities except the monthly photo competitions. No formal application, no voting is necessary. As and when anyone feels happy about joining, they pay $5 to the Treasurer, or $8 for a man-wife combination, and they're in.

Canadian International Salons

Montreal's International salons close, for prints Feb. 20, slides—Pictorial and Nature, Feb. 27. For entry forms write Gino Maddalena, 1262 Place Royale, St. Martin, Que. Wally Woods, Montreal, Art M. Underwood, Rochester, and Raymond Caron, Montreal, will judge the prints; Geo. Driscoll, Quebec, Frank Simard and Yseult Mounsey, Montreal, pictorial color; and Horace Willmott, Harold Green, and Len Chatwin, Montreal, nature slides.

the shutter. But what of the tricks that can change a color transparency after it comes from the processor's? Our die-hard friends, the print-makers, grin slyly and declare, "You can do lots of things to prints in the darkroom, but once you've snapped the shutter to make a color slide, that's all, brother!"

Don't you believe it! Let's consider a harbor scene. Sausalito, across the Golden Gate Bridge from San Francisco, is our favorite yacht harbor. With its many ramps, ever-changing boats and frequently fog-free weather, it holds many rewards for the photographer who gets there before ten in the morning . . . when the water is unruffled and reflections clear. Walk down a ramp and take a picture of that long row of boats over there in the dock. Some are canvas covered, some bright with paint, some of the sails are up, some down. Between you and the boats is a wide expanse of plain blue water. Give the picture one-half to one stop more exposure than you think it needs. Now, turn a little on the ramp and take a picture of that long house-trailer, mounted on a long, long boat. There is more expanse of blue water in the foreground, but there's a good lead-in line from that rigging on your left (on a boat tied to the ramp on which you stand). Overexpose ever so slightly. (When you get the pictures home from the processors, turn one upside down, reverse it, and bind the two together. Result? One salon slide from two dud or record pictures.)

But here at the yacht harbor, is what seems like a good reflection picture. You're close to a corner of the ramp and dock. Beyond you is a boat, masts reflected; there's a boat on your right and one on your left. The reflections fill the center. Here are the makings of a salon slide. But, wait. Are you going to let the print-makers have all the fun of making a bas relief? Take several shots so you'll have some to experiment with. When they come home, make a contact negative under the enlarger, very light, bind it and the color slide together, barely off register, and presto! You have a "derivation." We prefer Royal Pan for our enlarger-made negatives, others swear by Panatomic-X or one of the slow, contrasty copy films, such as Gravure Copy or Kodalith. If you don't have an enlarger, try the new Beseler Slide-o-Film, sandwiched with your slide in the projector.

There's a boat going out. It might make a picture, even though it's small and the sky is bald. When you get it home, there may not be the slightest indication it would make a salon. But how about that sea gull you caught at the top of a slide last week, last month, or last year, with overexposure and a very light sky? Take your picture today, then sandwich the two for a slide with an extra "gimmick."

Effects that can be obtained by sandwiching are myriad: useful subjects include thunderstorms, spider webs (real or inked), birds in flight or a single bird, silhouettes against simple backgrounds such as dunes or sky or sea, sunsets, overexposed pictures of flowers or geometrical designs, plain or screened overlays, symbolic picture outlines... the list goes on and on. Go over your slide file. Deliberately seek out the overexposed slides. See how many you can match up. Or go out and shoot a slide containing that extra "gimmick" to add to the "sick" slide.

Better yet, plan ahead. If you see a scene which needs a "gimmick" to make it click, take the scene (overexposed), then hunt till you find that needed element. Take it in the proper size and perspective to fit the first slide, and come up with a combination of pictures that no one else can duplicate.

Next time you start on a picture safari... whether evening, week-end or extended vacation... don't worry about the weather. Pack some imagination in your gadget bag, be ready to take advantage of it, and plan before you shoot!

Bielenberg's California Schedule

THE FOLLOWING is a listing (as of Dec. 15) of the lecture engagements of Rev. Herman Bielenberg, FPSA, in California during February and March. The retired clergyman of Warren, Pa., presents his programs before religious and service clubs, as well as photographic organizations.

An interesting aspect of Herman Bielenberg's third visit to the Golden State in as many years is that the Wind and Sun Camera Club Council has sponsored his lectures each year. Twenty-seven clubs, located in the general area between San Bernardino and Yuma of southeastern California, comprise this very progressive organization. They hire an auditorium and sell tickets to the public, with a nice profit realized on most of its NLP presentations. Rev. Bielenberg's California schedule follows:

- Feb. 11—Wind & Sun Council, San Bernardino
- Feb. 12 & 16—Glendale Presbyterian Church
- Feb. 17—Huntington Park Methodist Church
- Feb. 19—Long Beach Lutheran Church
- Feb. 21—First Lutheran Church, Long Beach
- Feb. 23—Grace Methodist Church, Long Beach
- Feb. 24—Palm Springs Presbyterian Church
- Feb. 25—Lutheran Church, Los Angeles
- Feb. 26—St. Paul's Lutheran Church, North Hollywood
- Feb. 27—Porterville Camera Club
- Mar. 3—Livermore Camera Club
- Mar. 5—Sunnyvale Lutheran Church
- Mar. 7—Sunshine Club, Morrison Auditorium, San Francisco
- Mar. 8—Palo Alto School
- Mar. 10—Concordia College, Oakland
- Mar. 11—Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church
- Mar. 12—San Bruno Lutheran Church
- Mar. 17—Glendale Presbyterian Church
- Mar. 19—North Hollywood Church
- Mar. 24—Angeles Mesa Presbyterian Church
- Mar. 26—Glendale Church

Rev. Bielenberg still has some open dates on his schedule. Program chairmen may contact him while enroute by addressing him at 8 Branch St., Warren, Pa.

Prior Announcement of NLP Tours

An ever-increasing number of camera clubs and councils are arranging their entire year's programs well before the first meeting of a new season. The benefits should be obvious. But this procedure does present some problems in that judges and speakers must commit themselves twelve months or more in advance, in some instances. This early planning has its effect on National Lecture Program operations, too.

Arranging an NLP Tour is a rather complex procedure. Funds and manpower only allow an average of three presentations a year (between October and June) and every effort must be made to have these cover as much of the U. S. and Canada as possible. While NLP strives to announce its tours at least six months in advance, actual negotiations with speakers commence a year before they make their first PSA-sponsored appearance.

In some instances, NLP plans are announced too late for clubs to take advantage of our speakers. And in other cases, clubs will not present programs on other than their regular meeting nights. These are two of the hazards of NLP scheduling but they are unavoidable.

Plans for three NLP Tours for 1961-62 are progressing and they will be announced soon. There is a good possibility of a European woman photographer visiting the U. S. during September-October and if so she will attend the New York Convention and make a limited lecture tour. One of the country's outstanding nature photographers will represent NLP after January, 1962, and it is fairly certain that a color slide program will be offered clubs in the Northeast next fall.

Publicity Director Appointed

William V. Plain of Stratford, Conn., has accepted a position on the NLP Committee and will serve as Director of Publicity. He will also be a member of the PSA National Publicity Committee.

Bill is on the staff of the Bridgeport Post and writes a weekly "Camera Club Activities" page for its Sunday edition. His column is widely read because it not only carries news of Connecticut clubs, but also that of regional and national organizations.

tive atmosphere among your audience.

Also please notice what Adolph says about the beaded screen. At present it seems to be used by almost everybody. Silver and lenticular screens, and beaded screens which have dulled with age, call for different measurement techniques that take their reflectance efficiency into account.

And now what about hot projectors? You say your projector is cool. You know it is because the salesman said it was, or because it has a fan, or because you use a low-wattage lamp. I wouldn't trust any of these "because." The wattage you prefer in a projector bulb is determined by the manufacturer's recommendations and by your particular use of that projector. For example: one of PSA's 5-star exhibitors uses a projector without a fan and with a 200-w bulb. This projector came equipped with a 250-w bulb which made it too hot, so he replaced it with a 200-w lamp and found it within allowable heat limits. To get 20 fc of illumination on the screen, he has to move in pretty close and of course the picture is small. That is fine for his personal examination and study of slides, or for a small group of people in a small room. But for entertainment purposes, by sacrificing some illumination, he can use the same equipment in a large hall and fill the screen with the picture. His use of the projector for home work is more important to him.

How can you tell whether your projector is really cool? Have you ever seen or owned or even heard of a projector thermometer? Every club should own one and every member should be allowed to test the heat of his own projector from time to time. The one I own is the Lacoe and is manufactured by Thomas W. Pace, P. O. Box 1582, El Cajon, Calif. The price is $5.50 each, postpaid, or $5.00 each in lots of three or more. It measures 2"x2" and fits into the carrier like a slide. Its scale registers heat up to 220 degrees F. Project it as you would a slide and watch image of the needle as it climbs on the screen. Remembering that we often like to discuss the slide, to answer questions about it, to criticize and analyze, and often to experiment with suggested croppings by maneuvering the position of the projector, it is not unusual to hold the picture on the screen for as much as five minutes. So, why not leave the thermometer in for at least that amount of time and see what the reading is when the needle stops and stabilizes? Don't be too quick to reach your decision. Before this stabilizing point is reached, the needle has moved very slowly; in fact, so slowly that there are times when you are sure it has stopped.

What is a safe heat? You'll have to determine that for yourself from experiments. The thermometer shows my projector's heat stops at 128 degrees. I'm satisfied—you might or might not be. A well known teacher puts the thermometer into the projector during the course of every instruction series and the students, if they've never seen this test, are fascinated as they watch the needle climb. It stops at 114 degrees. After discussing this problem of hot projectors with many concerned persons, I personally have taken 150 degrees as the maximum heat to which I feel slides can be safely subjected. However, I have never seen a published statement on the permissible temperature limit.

Slides properly bound in glass will not pop out of focus and people mistakenly believe it is because they remain cool in the projector. Nothing could be further from the truth. Glass is a transmitter, not a rejector, of heat. A glass-bound slide protects the film from scratches and finger marks, which is good, but not from heat.

I heard of one student who owns a camera shop who went home and tested every projector in his store. Those registering what he considered too much heat were boxed up and returned.

I hope you begin right now to see that your projection setup at home and the one your club uses provide the correct illumination of 20 foot candles if you expect those slides to make the contests. And before you damage irreparably somebody's prized slide, get that projector tested and satisfy yourself that it is safe for the projection times you are going to employ.

How careless can we get? Just take a long look at some of the burned and buckled slides in the sets we borrow from PSA—are you one of the guilty ones? Let's give our slides a chance. •

Contests

MESTON'S TRAVELS, INC., 3801 N. Piedras, El Paso, Texas, has announced a color slide contest with an all-expense air trip to Bermuda for two as first prize. Closing date is March 15. Only 35mm transparencies in 2x2 mounts will be considered. Subjects should be scenic or geographic from anywhere in the world.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY has announced its 1961 Kodak High School Photo Awards. Closing date is March 31. The competition is open to students who regularly attend grades 9 through 12 of any public, parochial or private high school in the United States or its possessions. A "Contest Clues" booklet, rules folder, and catalog of 1960 winners can be obtained from Kodak High School Photo Awards, Rochester 4, N. Y.

MPD-PSA Course in Motion Pictures

Lesson 16—Editing

By George W. Cushman, FPSA

(Illustrations by the author)

Most serious students and authorities agree that editing is the heart of any film. It is in the editing that a motion picture is created. This, of course, is true, for until a motion picture is edited it is nothing more than a recording of an event on movie film. And as we shall soon see, editing gives various meanings to different shots, depending entirely on the sequence in which they are presented. This being so, it is the editing that is responsible for a motion picture having meaning, strength, and power.

What is editing? Editing, in its truest, strictest sense, means the placement of the shots in the film. The film editor decides the order of the shots and the length of the shots. Both have a vital and direct bearing on meaning, and meaning is the all-important factor in a motion picture.

A. THE MECHANICS. We shall divide editing into two phases. The first we shall call the mechanics, which consists of nothing more than the physical process of cutting the processed footage into individual shots and cementing them together. This is commonly referred to as cutting and splicing, and not as editing. The second phase is the creative portion of the editing process, or we might more aptly call it the technique of film editing. It is here that the film editor makes his decisions as to just where each scene is to go, and how long it is to be. He must decide where fades, dissolves, wipes, and other effects are to go. He is the man who takes the raw footage and actually creates the motion picture story. His greatest qualification is to possess editorial judgment.

B. THE EDITOR'S TOOLS. Mechanically speaking, the editor needs few tools. A splicer, a pair of scissors, and a bottle of film cement are all he actually requires. It is helpful, however, to have some system of sorting his shots and keeping track of them until the splice is made. In Fig. 16A we illustrate three common systems. At the left is an editing bag or editing bin. This consists of a large lint-free sack much like a pillow case. It is wrapped around a framework and the strips of film are allowed to fall loosely inside, being held and marked by one end which in some convenient manner is clipped to the back side or bar. Strips sorted in this manner are instantly available when splicing begins.

Another method preferred by many editors makes use of an editing board, shown in the upper right hand illustration. This is a board into which some two dozen holes have been drilled, the holes being 3 inches in diameter. Each hole is numbered and the film strips are coiled carefully and placed in the holes, a record being kept of each by number.

Another suitable method is simply to coil each shot and stick the end with a piece of masking tape as shown in the bottom illustration on the right. The scene's number or description is written on the strip of tape.

Some workers like to project the film as they work, and for this purpose a small table model projector known as an editor is employed. These machines throw a small picture about 3x4 inches on a self-contained screen. The film is fed by hand at any desired speed, and this machine is a great convenience.

C. FRAME LINES. In a properly aligned camera, the frame line between the pictures comes exactly opposite the center of a perforation. However, occasionally a camera is found in which this line has slipped in such a way that the frame line does not bisect the perforation. Such an example is shown in the left illustration in Fig. 16B. It will be noted here that the frame line is located at the top of the perforation holes. At the right we see a proper frame line, for it comes exactly at the center of the perforations.

When editing film the editor must make certain that all frame lines in any one film match. This is seldom a problem if all scenes are made with the same camera. It would be permissible (though not at all advisable) to accept an off center frame line providing all scenes in the film were the same in this respect. But if the frame lines do not match, and various films are thus spliced together, the difference in frame line locations would show on the screen and be quite disconcerting to the audience. Of course this can be corrected with the framing lever on the projector, but it is far, far better to make certain that all frame lines in the scenes to be spliced together are identical.

D. POINT OF VIEW OR TREATMENT. We shall not dwell any longer on the mechanics of cutting and splicing, for these are elemental and soon learned. But the composition of the shots within the film, which is the editing process pure and simple, is the never-ending study which is, indeed, an art within itself.

If you gave two filmers the same story and told them to film it independently of each other, they would bring back two different versions. Even if you gave them the same identical processed shots, they would edit them differently. Even if you gave them a short, simple sequence of only ten shots, the result could be vastly different, for ten shots can be edited over 3,628,000 different ways, and each would be different in its meaning.

These different ways of editing the same material result in different accents and different viewpoints on the subject of the film. Thus the film editor has a power that even the director of the film does not have.

Let's take a simple, yet very effective illustration of what we mean. The story of illustration 16C is that Kenneth, on the left, is having trouble with his bicycle and he has come to his friend, Tom, to have the matter corrected. Upper left is a medium shot just after Kenneth has ridden into the scene. At the right is a medium close shot of the two boys, with Tom adjusting part of the mechanism which seems to be faulty.

Up to this point the accent is about equal on both boys. But from this point on the editor can feature either boy, should he desire to do so. In this case it would be quite simple—merely show twice or three times as much footage of one boy as the other. A close-up of Tom's hands might follow, inter cut with Kenneth's face as in the lower left hand picture, leaving out close-ups of Tom altogether. When this is done we see the story entirely from Kenneth's point of view. We get his reaction to the repair job, and his appreciation of Tom's handiwork.

This would be called the treatment of the sequence.

On the other hand, the close-ups might be entirely of Tom—first his hands, then his face, over and over again, and finally a look of satisfaction on his face as he successfully completes his task. In this instance the audience is concerned with the boy doing the repair, and not at all with the owner of the vehicle. In this way the editor places the emphasis where he wants it and on whom he wants it.

E. MEANING. A few moments ago we discussed meaning, and how the order of the shots can change meaning. A classic example is shown in illustration 16D. In the three pictures at the left we see, first, a man smiling, then a gun pointed at him, and then the same man frowning. When these three scenes are shown in this order we get the distinct impression that the man is afraid, that he is a coward.

Yet if we reverse the order of these identical three scenes, as we have done with the three shots on the right, we see the man frowning at first, then we see the gun, and finally the man laughing in the face of danger, and we get the distinct impression that he is a brave man and not at all afraid.

This lucid example points out very clearly how the meaning can be changed by the juxtaposition of three simple shots. It would be well to remember this example, for many, many times a sequence is greatly strengthened merely by rearranging the scenes.

The author once had to film a golf sequence. Medium shots of the actors were made, driving from the tee and putting on the green. Days later close-ups of the ball dropping into the cup and missing the cup were made. By placing the drop-in shots after medium shots of a certain player, I was able to show him as an excellent golfer, while by cutting the missed shots after another player I was able to make him appear to be a very poor one. Another simple example of the great power the film editor possesses!

F. SHOT ASSOCIATION. One of the great differences between still photography and motion picture photography is that two still photos do not necessarily have any relationship when one is seen following another, yet in motion picture making each scene can have a direct bearing on the one that follows or precedes it. For a lucid example of this fact, study for a moment the left hand photo of illustration 16E. This shot shows us a man about to shoot a gun, but it tells us nothing more than that. For instance, does this shot tell us anything about the man's character? Not at all.

Yet if this same shot is followed by the shot of the cat on the back yard fence we feel he may be a nervous fellow who can't sleep at night when the cat yawns and keeps him awake. Or if the shot is followed by the baby, we think that here is the most cowardly fellow we have ever met, shooting a poor innocent baby.

Or perhaps we follow it with the shot of the snake. Now we know he is a hero, eager to kill this unwanted creature. Or perhaps we follow it with the target, and know this fellow is enjoying a little harmless backyard practice.

Notice how the shot of the man reveals none of these things alone. Only when the second shot is added does the true condition arise. And yet these second shots in themselves are meaningless, for they need the first shot to give the meaning we are after. When two shots, meaningless in themselves, are placed together to give a definite meaning, a motion picture has been created. In this one phenomenon lies the greatness of the motion picture art.

G. SUSPENSE. If we may go a step further, we can now see that the meaning of a scene is all in the mind of the audience, and not in the scene or scenes themselves. This was proven in the example of the man with the gun plus the shot that followed. Each shot was meaningless in itself—the newly created meaning being established solely in the mind of the audience.

In order to prove this even further, look at illustration 16F. If you were told that this scene is full of suspense, you would deny this was so. Why? Because you see nothing about this boat on a river which has any reason for being suspenseful.

But suspense, like true motion picture meaning, exists solely in the mind of the audience, never on the screen if the picture is made properly. The scenes tell the audience something, and cumulatively they create a story, suspense, meaning, and so on.

Why, then, can we state that this picture of a boat is full of suspense. Well, actually it isn't, because no shot within itself carries suspense. It is the shot or shots that go along with it which, when shown in proper order, create suspense in the mind of the audience.

What you do not see is two or three scenes which preceded this one on the screen. The first shot was of a shady character placing a bomb under the middle seat of this boat. The second shot was a close-up of the man lighting the fuse. The third shot showed him running away just as this family of five came to the boat, got in, started the motor, and sped away. Now, with the knowledge in your mind that a lighted bomb is under the seat of this boat, the scene, so we say, is full of suspense, yet the suspense is entirely in your mind.

From this it can be seen that the editor works not with shots so much as with the minds of his audience. His job is to plant meanings progressively in the minds of his audience, and by giving those meanings a certain order he tells his story or creates the condition, reaction, suspense, mood, or other mental state that he desires.

Suspense, by the way, is telling or suggesting to your audience what may happen, and then making them wait quite a while for it to happen.

H. MOVEMENT. The greatest single factor of a motion picture is movement. Let's not confuse movement with action. What an actor does in a scene is action. How the theme or story progresses is movement. Without movement a film stands still—it gets nowhere, and most amateur films are like that. Pictures of lakes, rivers, waterfalls, mountains and similar subjects may be beautiful photographically, but they do not create movement. There is no passage of time. There is no beginning and middle and ending. The old fashioned Western may be corny and cliché today, but it is a good example of movement. The story begins, the problem or question is presented, opposition sets in, and the two opposing sides struggle towards the climax. The picture moves along from one incident or episode to another. When a film does this, we have good motion picture construction. When it doesn't move—it may as well have been made on still film.

I. PARALLEL EDITING. The motion picture is unique in that it can tell what is going on in two places at the same time, and do it so effectively that the spectator actually feels that he is two places at once. Literature cannot do this, nor can the stage.

This phenomenon is known as parallel action or parallel editing. Perhaps the most famous example is found again in the ageless Western wherein poor Nell is caught by the villain at the ranch while the hero, hearing of her plight while in town, mounts good old Trigger and rides like fury to save her. The editor shows a shot of Nell, then a shot of the hero riding like thunder, then the hero, and so on, cutting back and forth every few seconds. In this way the spectator feels he is in two places at once.

A similar example is Fig. 16G. Here, again, the audience sees two things going on at the same time. While the wedding ceremony is proceeding inside the church, a couple of scallywags in the parking lot are doing the bride and groom a special "favor."

Note how meaning can change by the difference in cutting. Suppose, for example, the upper scene is shown, then the lower, then the upper again, then the lower, then the upper, and so on. This order would give us the distinct

Recorded Lecture PROGRAM

The Recorded Lecture Program offers the following programs for your club. Each program consists of a set of 2x2 slides and a tape-recorded commentary, average length, 50 min.

JUST RELEASED

29. Big, Blue, and Glossy, by Earle W. Brown, FPSA. This RLP Lecture is a must for the monochrome worker who has mastered dark-room technique. You are shown in 73 color slides the types of pictures that best lend themselves to this technique. The step by step procedure for toning, ferrotyping, mounting, etching, and spotting are well illustrated. A 40 minute lecture with a taped group discussion following it.

21. The Charm of Minute Creatures, by Alfred Renfro, FPSA. "Nature Nate" shows us outstanding slides in color of the minute subjects to be found in the insect world. Through his pictures you will learn the almost human traits of his insect subjects. This is a must lecture for nature lovers.

16. Pictorial Photography From The Chinese Viewpoint, by Francis Wu, Hon. PSA, FPSA. Here you will be shown the Chinese approach to composition. You will see the influence of Chinese writing on their pictures. Many beautiful prints are shown in this 50-minute, 52-slide lecture.

8. Let's Take Nature Pictures, by Ruth Sage Bennett, FPSA. You are shown how to create outdoor conditions and "natural skies" in this lecture. You will also see the vivid colors which can be captured on film in the wonderful woodlands. 49 color slides with a 60-minute tape.

For a complete list with full description of all RLP Lectures see the latest RLP Catalog.

Orders for Lectures should be mailed at least 45 days before the date of showing.

A service charge is made for each lecture. For clubs which are members of PSA, the service charge is $5, plus a deposit of $20 which is returned upon request. Your first order should be accompanied with a $25 check, to cover deposit and service charge.

Clubs which have not used a lecture and want to order, or want information, or a catalog should write to:

impression that the two fellows were decorating the car while the ceremony was in progress. But if the lower photo was left on the screen and a cut back to the ceremony was not made, the audience would then get the impression that the tin cans were being tied on after the ceremony was over.

Parallel editing, therefore, can be made to tell what the editor wants it to tell. It's the order of the shots that is important.

J. THE IMPORTANCE OF ESTABLISHING. We have mentioned establishing in an earlier lesson and have pointed out its importance in motion picture work. The audience knows nothing they are not told. They do not know where a scene takes place unless they are told. These telling shots are called establishing shots or introductory shots. They are sprinkled throughout the film. The man with the gun established the condition under which the cat, the baby, or the snake was shown at that particular moment. The scene of the man planting the bomb established the state of affairs the boat was in when it flashed on the screen. The wedding established why the men were working so fast in attaching the "Just Married" sign and the tin cans.

Who speaks a title, too, must be established, and this is a matter often overlooked in a beginner's films. Look at illustration 16H. In the shot at the top we see a man and woman talking to each other. Suppose we follow this shot with the title shown at the bottom. Which person is speaking these words? We have no way of knowing, do we, because the person speaking the words has not been established.

It is vitally important, therefore, to show the close-up of the man just preceding the title to establish this fact. In this instance the close-up of the man is an establishing shot. Following the title it is not necessary to cut back to the close-up of the man, for after the title we don't need him to establish anything. After the title the action of the sequence can and should continue.

K. RHYTHM AND PACING. Music has rhythm, usually described as being a definite beat at periodic intervals. A film can have this same rhythm or beat. How is it accomplished? There are many ways, from the editor's standpoint, and one is through control of the length of the shots. If a series of shots are cut at one-second intervals, this one-second change will be felt by the audience. This rhythm can be changed by lengthening or shortening the individual shots. It will be effective, however, only when it is in keeping with the subject. A dreamy, romantic sequence of two lovers by a lake would want a very slow rhythm, whereas a cops and robbers chase would require a very fast rhythm. It can all be achieved through editing. Why is rhythm important? Because it gives us the definite feeling of movement perhaps more than any other method known.

Pacing is the speed of movement, whereas rhythm is the pulsebeat of that movement. A film can have pacing without rhythm. A film is said to be slow paced when the movement is not as fast as it should be, or is not in keeping with the subject. Further, fast movement followed by slow movement is often considered good editing practice, for this change in pacing keeps the audience interested in the film. Monotonous pacing tends to cause any audience to lose interest.

L. A GREAT FIELD. Film editing, the real heart of film making, is a huge field, and we have scarcely begun to cover it in this lesson. In practically all books on the motion picture, it usually is this matter of editing that is discussed, even though the term may not be used, for editing is film making. When the script writer prepares his scenario, he is thinking in terms of individual shots and the order in which they will be seen. The director thinks in terms not only of individual shots but how they will match up with the shots that precede and that follow.

Because editing is film making and film making is editing, this greatest of all phases of the motion picture art should be studied seriously. We have covered here only some of its basic tenets. There are many, many more to be learned as experience progresses.

12 Sins of Projection

HOW MANY FILMERS give the projection of their pictures the thought and care this phase of movie making should have? Not many. Projection often seems to be a careless and haphazard process, yet it should be fully as careful as any phase of making the picture in the first place. Listed here are 12 sins of projection. How many do you commit when you show your films?

1. Rewinding after each reel is shown. No discourtesy to guests is greater than that of rewinding a reel as soon as it is shown. At practically every club meeting the projectionist will rewind each reel immediately, usually when someone is trying to speak. Every club should make it an inviolate rule that all reels must be rewound after the meeting is over, and at home rewinding should not take place until after the last guest has gone.

2. Showing a white screen. No professional projectionist shows a white screen at any time, unless the film should suddenly break. All films should have an opaque leader and trailer, never a transparent one. The projector light should be turned on and off while these opaque strips are running.

3. Using too bright a light in the projector. This sin has increased by leaps and bounds the past few years with the coming of more powerful projection bulbs. I have seen many throws of 15 feet with a 1000-watt bulb in the projector, with the result that faces and white areas are completely washed out, and normal colors changed to a tint.

4. Reels not in order. All reels should be placed in order before the show starts. How terribly amateurish it is to watch the projectionist search through a dozen reels of film looking for the picture he wishes to present next! Such antics depict him as the poor showman he really is.

5. Seats too close, or too far aside. The seats can't all be in the best possible spot, but they should be placed as well as the room will allow. It is better to have seats too far back than too far front. If seats must be on the side, a flat white screen should be used instead of a beaded one. Remember, your audience often judges your film not only on what they see but how well they see it. Make certain they see it to best advantage.

6. Room not dark. Black and white films do not require a room that is totally dark, but for color films the room should be as black as possible, to make the color rich and full. Although an audience may not object to a room with some light, the picture suffers. In other words, the audience isn't seeing the best picture possible. If any light does enter a window or a door, make certain at least that none of it strikes the screen.

7. Room lights too bright. No audience likes to have bright lights suddenly flash on after a film has been shown, yet time after time unthinking projectionists force this "blinking" condition upon their friends. In some auditoriums the lighting cannot be controlled. If this is so, extra lighting can be brought in and set up for the occasion. A dimmer is, of course, ideal if available. At home, where lighting conditions are controlled, there never is an excuse for turning on bright room lights the moment a film has ended.

8. Light in the eyes of the spectators. When these bright room lights are turned on, often they are at the front of the room where they blind the spectators. If the lights in an auditorium can be turned on singly, those at the rear of the room should be turned on first. Then, 30 seconds later, after the eyes of the audience have become accustomed to that light, the rest can be turned on. The same applies at home.

A weak light should be turned on at the rear of the room between reels. Unless more light is needed there is no reason to use more than this until the end of the evening.

9. No available light in an emergency. At one time or another even the finest projectionist is going to have trouble with his films, his projector, or his equipment. Often he fumbles around in the dark and finally hollers "Lights!" The light man is unprepared for this sudden command and he stumbles over laps and toes trying to get some illumination for the unfortunate projectionist. Everyone who shows films should have a weak light for such an emergency. A flashlight should be a part of every projector kit, or some other weak light placed near the projection stand.

10. Poorly made splices that break. This may be a part of film making, but an audience soon gets sick of a film that is continually breaking as poorly made splices pull apart. The careful worker should always use fresh cement, a good splicer, and take pride in his craftsmanship so that stoppages due to such troubles are reduced to a minimum.

11. Using noisy, dirty equipment. Nothing is worse in a small room than having to listen to a threshing machine grinding away. Yet some projectors sound like one. If they need oil or repairs, see that they get both. A small repair bill is better than an irritated audience. The projection equipment should be cleaned and checked after each show. Often there isn't enough time before a show to complete these chores.

12. Not prefocusing a projector. I guess until doomsday we will be subjected to watching the projectionist fumble with the lens while the title of the first film goes on and off the screen without our reading it. It is better to have a show start a minute late—for it only takes a minute to pre-focus—than to subject an audience to a fuzzy, indistinct beginning. This is as great a sin as any of the other 11, and a true mark of the rankest beginner.

We could, perhaps, list another dozen sins, many of which are almost as important as these. But would it do any good? These sins are certainly not new, but it seems that no clubs and few filmers have ever heard of them let alone done anything about them. I would like to see every club adopt these sins as unpardonable at any meeting, and train its projectionists to avoid each one. To do so will greatly improve the impression of, and the enjoyment to be gained from, the showing of films. •

New Products

HIGH-SPEED POLAROID FILM is now available in 4x5 size for advanced amateurs and professionals who use the Polaroid Land 4x5 Film Holder to adapt press and view cameras for on-the-spot processing. The film is rated at 3200 ASA daylight, and produces finished prints in 10 seconds instead of the former 60-second requirement. Polaroid also announced that its 200-speed Type 52 Land Film Packets have been converted to 10-second development. Both the new material, designated as Type 57, and the fast-processing Type 52 make sharper pictures than any other 4x5 material produced by Polaroid to date. Contrast control is available with both films—10 seconds developing provides normal contrast, while noticeably higher contrast occurs in the 15-30 second range. Polaroid warns that the extreme sensitivity of the 3000-speed material requires extra careful handling outdoors to prevent fogging and advises users to have their 4x5 cameras checked for light leaks around the lensboard, bellows and camera back.

film on the take-up reel and presses a button to start the action. The zoom lens varies from 15 to 25-mm in focal length, making it possible to accommodate picture to screen size without moving projector or screen. There also is an automatic switch which turns off the room light when the projector is switched on, and turns it back on when the show is over. Other features include forward, reverse and still projection, high-speed rewind, rheostat speed control and 750-watt illumination. The AZ-718 comes with carrying case, cord and 400-ft. reel and will retail under $125.

A MONORAIL VIEW CAMERA in the 2½x3½ size, the Linhof-Color 23, has been announced by Kling Photo Corporation, New York, sole U. S. agents for Linhof cameras. Built on the optical bench principle, it follows the design of the Linhof-Color 4x5 which made its debut a year ago. Its 360-degree revolving back incorporates a release for instant changeover from ground-glass or sheet film holders to the Super Rollex back which yields 10 exposures, 2½x2½, on No. 120 roll film. Lensboards for the Linhof-Color 23 have the same dimensions as boards for the 4x5 Linhof cameras, permitting ready interchangeability. The Linhof-Color 23 offers all view-camera adjustments and is priced at $249.50.

THE SEPTON LENS, a 50-mm f/2 manufactured by Voigtlander, now is offered on the Bessamatic camera. It is a seven-element ultra-resolution lens particularly designed for the special requirements of this type of single-lens reflex camera. It has full automatic diaphragm plus coupling to the exposure meter. Price of the Bessamatic with the new f/2 Septon is $259.50. Further expanding the Bessamatic line, Voigtlander has announced a 100-mm f/4.8 Dynarex telephoto for this camera at $79.50, the same price as the 35-mm Skoparex wide-angle and the 135-mm Super-Dynarex telephoto already introduced.

THE 1/1000-SECOND SHUTTER introduced on the Super Speed Graphic Camera has been adapted to the Pacemaker 45. It is known as the Graflex 1000 Shutter, and has a top speed of 1/1000 second and is fitted with three contact posts for M, X, or MX synchronization built into the lens standard. Price of the shutter for the Pacemaker 45 model camera is $189.50.

THE STOP-LITE LAMP, designed to illuminate the aperture markings of any enlarger lens, has been announced by Lester C. Hehn Engineering, 30 Manorhaven Blvd., Port Washington, N. Y. It mounts on the enlarger lensboard and safely permits fast and accurate settings. Operating on 110-120-v ac, the lamp has an operating life of over 25,000 hours. It comes with 8-ft. line cord, mounting clip and mounting hardware and is priced at $2.95.

ELECTRONIC FLASH miniaturization continues with two new transistor-controlled Metz units distributed in the U. S. by Burleigh Brooks. Mini-Metz 106 is a two-piece outfit which weighs 2 lb. with battery and can be used with flash head on camera and pack slung from shoulder. Cord retracts into battery pack, and the entire unit can be camera-mounted if desired. Mini-Metz 107 is a one-piece unit designed for camera mounting. It weighs 1½ lb. Both use nickel-cadmium batteries good for about 60 flashes without recharging, and yield sufficient output for guide numbers of 33-39 with Daylight Kodachrome. Each is priced at $69.95. Accessories include a bracket at $2.50 and chargers at $7.50 and approximately $14.95.

SELF-STICKING ALUMINUM TABS, designed to be applied to motion picture film, film strips and magnetic recording tape for automatic cueing operations, are new products of W. H. Brady Co., 727 West Glendale Ave., Milwaukee, Wis. When the tab reaches the contact points of a relay on the machine, it actuates the mechanism to stop and shut off the reproducer, or reverse and repeat the program. The tabs also are applicable to devices for cueing automatic slide changers.

Camera Clubs

Editor: Henry W. Barker, FPSA
392 Hope St., Glenbrook, Conn.

THEY STILL DO IT! The new clubs and some of the older, more established clubs—they still do it. Do what? Well, bear with us for a few hundred words while we attempt to explain.

Back in 1953, this column expounded at tiresome length on the subject of the advantages and the necessity of a camera club bulletin's identifying itself fully in each issue. Having belabored the point ad nauseum, the writer laid the issue to rest, happily deluded into thinking this column had struck a mighty blow which would forever wipe out the deplored practice. It is to laugh.

What triggered the initial fulminations was the receipt in one day of three club bulletins, none of which bore any inkling whatsoever of the city, state or country in which the club met. One mentioned the meeting place in a vague, unidentifiable sort of way, sans address, of course. Another carefully established the meeting date and hour ("Be sure to be on time!") but coyly avoided mention of where the meeting was to be held.

Having persuaded ourselves into thinking that this sort of thing just isn't done any more, we were brought back to reality quite sharply a few days ago upon receiving several bulletins which repeated the mistakes mentioned above.

So, here we go again! A club bulletin should be regarded as one of the important contacts a club has with its members and the general public. The editor should take nothing for granted. Sure, most of your members to whom the bulletin is mailed are aware that it comes from the Happy Fellows CC. They know that the club meets every other Tuesday at First Avenue Church, in the basement.

But what the editor doesn't realize is that there may be many readers of his bulletin who don't know these things—readers into whose hands a copy may fall, and who might very well be interested in attending a meeting of the Happy Fellows CC. But, without knowing when and where it meets, they can't attend.

It seems almost unbelievable, but there are so many bulletins which carry little or no information about the essentials. There will be items about Joe Itchyfoot's latest trip to Europe or Hawaii, and how he brought home a bushel of pictures (let's see 'em soon, Joe!), or about how Mary Diaphragm shot a whole roll of Kodachrome with her lens cap on (ha! ha!).

Which is all to the good. Members want to see their names in the bulletin. They want their fellow members to learn about their accomplishments—or even their misadventures. That's one of the reasons a club publishes a bulletin.

But there are other reasons, too, important ones. Your club bulletin can be a combination newspaper, score-board, ballyhoo sheet (for coming meetings), and important contact with prospective members. For the last reason, if for no other, every issue should spell out carefully where the club meets, the dates of its meetings, and the time meetings begin.

TRAVEL TIP

This membership issue of the PSA JOURNAL has many uses, whether you are at home or abroad. One is as a travel guide. All members are listed by place of residence in the Geographical Index. Some names are marked with a heavy black dot—●

This symbol designates PSA Travel Aids, members able and willing to advise fellow PSAers on the photo possibilities and problems of their areas. For help in planning a trip, look up the Travel Aids in the area you will visit and write them direct. If you would enjoy serving in this activity, write Tom and Caryl Firth, Trappe, Md.

It helps a lot, too, to list your club officers with their addresses and telephone numbers. Above all, when the bulletin is used as a medium for national publicity, as very often happens, please don't assume that someone a thousand miles away will know instinctively that the Happy Fellows CC is located in the attractive town of Neumoph, Ohio. So why not make it easy for him and your club by simply stating in the "masthead" of the bulletin the location of your club. By "location" we mean street address, town and state.

Just imagine the frustrated feelings of a publications camera clubs editor who receives club bulletins without any indication as to their points of origin!

Well, guess we've belabored the point again. But if you've got a buck to spare, we'll be willing to put up two that a couple of years hence there'll be just as many misguided bulletin editors who don't give a thought to readers outside their small circle. Wanna bet? ●

Whom To Write

SALONS—Write the person listed for forms. Note that salons are on the list for months ahead and that additions are made every month. Allow yourself plenty of time to get the forms and ship your entry.

SERVICES—Write the person listed. If in doubt, several Divisions list under "Membership" the person who can steer you to the correct source of information. Note separation of services for Individuals and services for Clubs. "Individuals" includes only PSA members. (All service leaders are requested to notify the Journal of address changes at the same time they notify Headquarters.) Names and addresses of Division and Zone heads are listed under the Board of Directors on page 4. Write them if your question covers other subjects.

ANSCOMARK M[®]

From its brilliant, needle-sharp system of interchangeable lenses to its unique "no camera shake" shutter release, the new Anscomark M 35mm camera is loaded with features. Built-in exposure meter that couples to all lenses (and you can pre-select either the shutter or diaphragm) with match-needle speed and efficiency. Coupled rangefinder-viewfinder color-coded for normal, wide angle and telephoto lenses. Rapid-wind film lever. MXV synchronized behind-the-lens shutter from 1 to 1/500 second and Bulb. With f/1.9 Xyton[®] 50mm lens; or f/2.8 lens. Accessory lenses: Xyton 100mm f/4 telephoto lens with case, Xyton 35mm f/3.5 wide angle lens with case. Also available, Anscomark M leather case.

ANSCOSET[®]

Here's the first really versatile automatic needle-set 35mm camera ever. Meter automatically chooses the best shutter-diaphragm combination for perfect exposure. New simplified control for flashlamps . . . calculates settings automatically. Brilliant rangefinder-viewfinder couples to needle-sharp f/2.8 Rokkor lens. Rapid-wind lever, rapid rewind crank, MXV synchronization! But here's where the real versatility comes in . . . the AnscoSet gives you a range of shutter speeds from 1/8 sec. to 1/1000 second! Just match the needle, focus and shoot! AnscoSet leather case available.

ANSCOMATIC[®] PROJECTOR

Fully automatic on all 2" x 2" slides; also takes everything from single stereo frames to 2 3/4" square mounts! Remote control, blower cooled, no-jam action with any type of slide mount, controllable interval, and all-metal body construction. New! Seven-inch projection lens gives you a long throw for professional slide shows.

ANSCO TAG-ALONG TRAY

Couples to the tray ahead to give uninterrupted projection of an infinite number of slides. Holds a full 40 slides. Four in exclusive file cabinet container.

AnSCO, Binghamton, New York, A Division of General Aniline & Film Corporation.

DIRECTORY OF MEMBERSHIP

This list of members was prepared by PSA Headquarters as of December, 1960. Names and addresses are followed by a code indicating Divisional Affiliation and month and year of joining PSA. When no Division letters appear, it means the Headquarters has no record of affiliation with a Division. A geographic index will be found at the back.

Every effort has been made to insure the accuracy of the listings, but your cooperation in checking your own name, address, and Division is earnestly requested. Errors can be corrected only with your help. Communications should be addressed to PSA Headquarters, 2005 Walnut Street, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania.

The code used is as follows:

Conservation Member
 11 - Life Member
 * - Travel Aid
 C - Color Division
 M - Motion Picture Division

N - Nature Division
 J - Photo-Journalism Division
 P - Pictorial Division
 S - Stereo Division
 T - Techniques Division
 * - Deceased

Because of space limitations, all miscellaneous memberships, subscriptions, etc., have been omitted.

Extra copies of this Directory may be purchased by members only from PSA Headquarters, 2005 Walnut St., Philadelphia 3, Penna., at $1.00 each, payable with order.

Use of this Directory for sales solicitations is made without the approval or sanction either of PSA or of PSA Journal. PSA Members are reminded that it is impossible to provide the convenience of a membership list without risking its use for sales or other commercial purposes. Such use constitutes no endorsement by PSA or by PSA Journal of products or services thereby offered.

PSA CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS OF DECEMBER 1946

Article I

PURPOSES

This Society shall be a medium for cooperative action in promoting the arts and sciences of photography and for furthering public education therein.

Article II

MEMBERSHIP

Section 1. General. This Society shall be a membership organization, enrolling individuals, organizations and business firms as members. Individuals may be enrolled as (a) Active Members, (b) Honorary Members, (c) Cornerstone Life Members, (d) Life Members, or (e) Contributing Members. Organizations may be enrolled as Organizational Members. Business firms may be enrolled as Industrial Members.

Section 2. Charter Members. Individuals and camera clubs so designated in the Constitution and By-Laws of this Society adopted March 13, 1935.

Section 3. Active Members. Individuals who shall have met requirements and paid dues prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Section 4. Honorary Members. Individuals who, having rendered distinguished service to this Society, or to photography, or who for other adequate and stated reasons shall have been elected Honorary Members by a three-fourths (3/4) vote of the Board of Directors. Upon conclusion of service in office, without impeachment, each President of this Society automatically shall become an Honorary Member.

Section 5. Cornerstone Life Members. Individuals who have met requirements and, in lieu of dues, shall have paid a single Cornerstone Life Membership fee of two hundred ($200.00) dollars or more. The number of Cornerstone Life Members shall be limited to two hundred and fifty (250).

Section 6. Life Members. Individuals who shall have met requirements and, in lieu of dues, shall have paid a single life membership fee as prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Section 7. Contributing Members. Individuals, business firms, or organizations contributing to the financial support of this Society under conditions prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Section 8. Industrial Members. Business firms engaged in the photographic industry, or related industries, which shall have met requirements and paid dues prescribed by the Board of Directors. This provision shall not be interpreted as prohibiting the Board of Directors from establishing such other relationships with business firms or organizations as may benefit this Society.

Section 9. Organizational Members. Organizations such as, but not limited to, camera clubs, camera club councils, libraries, educational institutions, scientific societies, and cultural groups, having activities and interests consonant with those of this Society and which shall have met requirements and paid dues prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Article III

INITIATION FEES AND DUES

Section 1. General. Initiation fees and membership dues shall be fixed by the Board of Directors.

Section 2. Payment of Annual Dues. Dues shall become payable upon application for membership and thereafter annually in advance upon the anniversary date of admission to membership. Members whose dues shall remain unpaid thirty (30) days after the anniversary of their admission to membership in this Society shall be considered as not in good standing.

Section 3. Arcars. The Board of Directors shall prescribe rules for removing from the membership those whose dues remain unpaid.

Section 4. Exceptions. No payment of initiation fees or dues shall be required of Honorary Members or Honorary Fellows of this Society.

Section 5. Initiation and Life Membership Fees. Initiation fees from whatever source and single payments of fees by Life Members shall be added to the reserve funds of this Society.

Article IV

DUTIES AND PRIVILEGES OF MEMBERS

Section 1. Duties. Members shall abide by this Constitution and these By-Laws and shall keep this Society informed of their correct mail addresses.

Section 2. Privileges.

(a) Active, Contributing, Cornerstone Life and Life Members shall enjoy all rights and privileges customarily appertaining to such memberships, or otherwise as established by the Board of Directors.

(b) Associates, Fellows, Honorary Fellows, and Honorary Members shall enjoy the basic status of Active Members, with additional rights and privileges established by tradition or granted by the Board of Directors.

(c) Each Industrial and Organizational Member shall designate as official representative an individual who shall enjoy the basic status, rights, and privileges of Active Member, but shall not hold office.

Section 3. Identification. For so long as they shall maintain membership in this Society, members shall be entitled appropriately to display the official insignia of the Society and to append to their names an indication of their status in this Society as prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Section 4. Relinquishment of Claims. All right, title, and interest, whether legal or equitable, of a member in and to the property of this Society shall cease upon termination of membership for any reason.

Article V

MEMBERSHIP MEETINGS

Section 1. Transaction of Business. The official business of this Society may be transacted by mail.

Section 2. Annual Meeting. An Annual Meeting of the membership shall be held each year at a date and place designated by the Board of Directors.

Section 3. Special Meetings. Special Meetings of the membership may be held at the call of and at dates and places designated by the Board of Directors.

Section 4. District Meetings. District Meetings, for members resident in any District herein defined may be held at the call of District Representatives, or of a majority of members resident in any District.

Section 5. Quorums. A quorum for any Annual or Special Meeting of the membership shall consist of not less than fifty (50) members. No quorum shall be required at District Meetings. A quorum of mail ballots shall consist of not less than one-tenth (1/10) of the membership.

Section 6. Notices of Meetings. The Annual Meeting shall include an Annual Business Session for the transaction of official business requiring consideration by the membership. Only business specified in the notices thereof shall be transacted at Special Meetings. District Meetings shall be forums for discussion of the affairs of this Society.

Article VI

OFFICERS AND OFFICIALS

Section 1. General. This Society and its Districts, Divisions, Sections, Chapters, and other units shall select all officers by popular vote for one (1) term of two (2) years. All officers shall continue in office until their successors qualify. The President and the Executive Vice President shall not be eligible to serve more than two (2) terms consecutively in the same office.

Section 2. Officers. The national officers of this society shall be a president, executive vice president, services vice president, convention vice president, editorial vice president, membership vice president, secretary, and treasurer, all of which shall be elected by the membership. Each retiring president shall serve in a supervisory capacity as past president for the term of his immediate successor.

Section 3. Officials. Zone Directors and District Representatives, who shall be elected in accordance with the provisions of this Constitution and these By-Laws; Honorary Representatives, who shall be appointed annually by the President with the approval of the Board of Directors; and an Executive Secretary and such other appointees as the President and Board of Directors may deem necessary, shall have the status of officials of the Society.

Section 4. Remuneration. No elective officer of this Society shall receive cash remuneration for serving in office. Remuneration and terms of office of appointees shall be fixed by the President with the approval of the Board of Directors. At the discretion of the Board, any national officer may be granted an allowance to meet travel and incidental expenses incurred while conducting the official business of this Society.

Section 5. Conduct in Office. Officers and officials of this Society shall conduct themselves and direct the affairs of office in manner consonant with policy and procedure established by the Board of Directors, and shall perform the duties specified in this Constitution and these By-Laws.

Section 6. Duties of Officers. The President shall promote the good and welfare of this Society, perform all duties customarily appertaining to the office, preside at all meetings of this Society, National Council, and Board of Directors; and otherwise shall serve as required by the Board of Directors by the exigencies of office, and by this Constitution and these By-Laws.

The Vice Presidents shall perform such duties as may be delegated by the President or required by the Board of Directors.

The Secretary shall perform duties required by the laws of the state in which this Society is incorporated; shall supervise the keeping in bound form of the official minutes of the National Council and Board of Directors; sign checks on behalf of this Society, when required; and shall perform other duties delegated by the President, required by the Board of Directors, and specified in this Constitution and these By-Laws.

The Treasurer shall perform duties required by the laws of the state in which this Society is incorporated; sign checks on behalf of this Society, when required; supervise the preparation of the budget; prepare the annual financial report for publication in the official journal within six months after the close of the fiscal year; supervise the annual inventory of the property and possessions of this Society; render to the Board of Directors a monthly statement of income and expenditures, with balance sheet; and perform other duties delegated by the President, required by the Board of Directors, and specified in this Constitution and these By-Laws.

Section 7. Duties of Officials. The Executive Secretary and other appointees of the Society shall perform such duties as may be delegated by the President or prescribed by the Board of Directors. The District Representatives faithfully shall represent their respective Districts, ascertain and advise the President, National Council, and Board of Directors as to the desires and recommendations of members resident within their respective Districts, perform duties required by the President or prescribed by the Board of Directors, and otherwise promote the growth, welfare, and interests of the Society. The Zone Directors shall faithfully represent their respective zones, ascertain and advise the President, National Council, and Board of Directors as to the desires and recommendations of members resident within their respective zones, perform duties required by the President and otherwise promote the growth, welfare, and interest of the Society. Each Zone Director shall be responsible for the supervision of the District Representatives in his zone, as directed by the Board of Directors. The Honorary Representatives shall perform such duties as may be prescribed by this Constitution and these By-Laws or required by the President and Board of Directors.

Section 8. Scope of Authority. No officer, official member, or employee of this Society shall commit this Society as a whole to any policy, agreement, responsibility, project, undertaking, or unauthorized expense without the approval of the Board of Directors.

Section 9. Delegation of Authority. With the approval of the Board of Directors, elective officers may delegate any of the duties of office to responsible officers, officials, members, or employees of this Society.

Section 10. Reports of Officers. All Officers shall make written reports of the activities of office annually, or otherwise as required, to the Board of Directors.

Section 11. Use of Corporate Seal. The corporate seal of this Society shall be used only by a national officer with the specific authority of the Board of Directors.

Section 12. Vacancies in Office. Any office in this Society other than that of President, or in its Divisions, Districts, Sections, Chapters, or other units, or an official position, which for any reason shall become vacant, may be filled for the unexpired term by appointment by the President with the approval of the Board of Directors. Temporary vacancies in any office except that of the President may be filled by the President with the approval of the Board. Any vacancy occurring for any reason in the office of President shall be filled for the unexpired term in proper succession by the Executive Vice President.

Article VII

ELECTION OF OFFICERS AND REPRESENTATIVES

Section 1. General. The Board of Directors shall prescribe rules and regulations governing national elections of this Society in accordance with democratic principles, fix the date thereof, appoint the Nominating Committees provided herein, and, in case of contests or protests, render final decisions.

Section 2. Year of Election. To assure continuity in operations the national officers and Zone Directors of this Society and the members of this Society shall be elected each odd year. The Divisional officers and Executive Committees and the District Representatives shall be elected each even year.

Section 3. Nominating Committee. A Nominating Committee of five (5) members shall be created in each even year to serve until the anniversary date of the succeeding even year. The Nominating Committee shall be appointed by the Board of Directors, but shall elect its own chairman. Not more than two (2) members of the Nominating Committee shall be elective members of the Board of Directors.

Section 4. Procedure. At least five (5) months prior to the official election date, the Nominating Committee shall have prepared an official slate of one or more candidates in good standing for each national, sectional or district office. The Nominating Committee shall have obtained acceptance of candidacy, and of office if elected, from each candidate, and shall certify the slate of candidates to the Secretary who shall cause such slate of candidates to be published in the official journal of this Society at least three (3) months before the election.

Section 5. Petition Nominations. Any twenty-five (25) or more members in good standing of this Society may submit to Headquarters a written petition nominating any eligible member for any national elective office. Any twenty-five (25) or more members in good standing of this Society, resident in one of the four geographical sections described in Article IX, Section 2e of these By-Laws, may submit to Headquarters a written petition nominating any eligible person resident in that geographical section for that section's representative on the Board of Directors. Any ten (10) or more members in good standing of this Society resident in a District may submit to Headquarters a written petition nominating any eligible person resident in that District for the office of that District's representative to the National Council. All petitions, to be valid, must be accompanied by a statement in writing from each candidate declaring his or her willingness to accept office if elected, and shall have been submitted to Headquarters at least forty-five (45) days in advance of the official election date. Petitions so submitted shall be certified to the Secretary and to the Elections Committee who shall, in turn, cause the names of such candidates to be placed upon the official ballot.

Section 6. Ballots. Upon certification by the Nominating Committee of an official slate of candidates for national or District offices, and for the Board of Directors, the Elections Committee shall cause to be prepared and distributed to the membership by mail official ballot forms upon which shall appear the names of all candidates, the offices for which they have been nominated, and full instructions for use and return of the ballots. Candidates nominated by petition shall be so indicated.

Section 7. Voting. All members in good standing of this Society shall have the right to vote for all candidates for national elective office, but only those members in good standing of this Society resident in a given geographical section or district, or such geographical sections or districts are described in these By-Laws, shall have the right to vote for representatives of that section or district.

Section 8. Uncontested Offices. In cases of uncontested offices, the Secretary of this Society shall cast the ballot of the entire Society for such nominees and they shall be declared elected.

Section 9. Tally and Announcement of Results. The Elections Committee shall appoint four (4) members, none a candidate for office or holding national or District office, as official tellers to assist in counting the votes and recording the tally. As soon thereafter as practicable, the Elections Committee shall certify to the Board of Directors the results of all elections. These results shall be published in the official journal.

Section 10. Installation. Officers and officials of this Society shall assume the duties of office at the first annual meeting of the Board of Directors subsequent to their election.

Article VIII

NATIONAL COUNCIL

Section 1. General. Representative government of this Society shall be established through the medium of a National Council, which shall have the powers of recommending policies, procedures and practices for this Society, and of proposing and ratifying amendments to this Constitution and these By-Laws.

Section 2. Composition. The National Council shall be composed of the following:
National Officers, Division Chairmen, Zone Directors, District Representatives, Chairmen of the Standing Committees, Past President and Honorary Representatives when visiting the United States.

Section 3. Meetings. The National Council shall hold at least one (1) meeting annually, and otherwise shall meet at the call of the President. The President shall call special meetings of the National Council upon the request of one-third (1/3) of the members thereof.

Section 4. Notices of Meetings. Notices of regular or special meetings of the National Council shall be served upon all members thereof at least two (2) weeks in advance.

Section 5. Transaction of Business. Any business presented by officers, officials, or members of this Society may be transacted at any meeting of the National Council. The National Council may transact business by mail.

Section 6. Quorum. Presence of one-fourth (1/4) of the membership thereof shall constitute a quorum for any meeting of the National Council. Any member of the National Council unable to attend a meeting may vote by mail, such vote having full force and effect.

Section 7. Reports of Meetings. Reports of meetings of the National Council shall be published, as soon as practicable, in the official journal.

Section 8. Minutes. Minutes of meetings of the National Council shall be kept in an official, bound minutes book and shall be subscribed by the presiding officer and by the secretary of the meeting.

Article IX

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Section 1. General. Management of this Society and administration of its affairs shall be vested in a Board of Directors, which shall function as a working cabinet for the President, shall establish the headquarters of this Society, shall have the power to suspend or expel members and recall officers of this Society, and shall exercise all other managerial powers except those herein prescribed for the National Council.

Section 2. Composition. The Board shall be composed of the following:

- a. The National Officers.
- b. The Chairmen of the Divisions.
- c. The Chairmen of Standing Committees.
- d. The retiring President who shall serve for the term of his immediate successor.
- e. Four (4) members of this Society, one elected from each of the following four (4) regions, the first to represent the geographical eastern section of the United States comprising the official Eastern Time Zone, the second to represent the geographical and mid-western section of the United States comprising the official Central Time Zone, the third to represent the western section of the United States comprising the combined official Mountain and Pacific Time Zones, and the fourth to represent all Provinces of Canada.

Section 3. Meetings. The Board shall hold at least six (6) meetings each year, not more than three (3) months elapsing between meetings. The Annual Meeting of the Board shall be held each year at the Annual Convention. Otherwise the Board shall meet at the call of, and at times and places designated by, the President. All meetings of the Board shall constitute closed sessions, but shall be open to members of the National Council upon application, and to others by invitation.

Section 4. Transaction of Business. Any business related to the affairs of this Society may be transacted at any meeting of the Board. In addition, the Board may transact emergency business by mail, telegraph or telephone.

Section 5. Quorum. Presence of five (5) members thereof shall constitute a quorum for any meeting of the Board.

Section 6. Reports of Meetings. Reports of meetings of the Board promptly shall be made to the National Council, and shall be published, as soon as practicable, in the official journal.

Section 7. Minutes. Minutes of the meetings of the Board shall be kept in an official, bound minutes book and shall be subscribed by the presiding officer and by the secretary of the meeting.

Section 8. Employees. The Board may create positions of employment necessary properly to conduct this Society's business; employ, or authorize the employment of, qualified personnel; disburse, or order the disbursement of, any money; and prescribe terms of employment and remuneration. No employee shall be required to be, or to become, a member of this Society. No employee shall be eligible for elective office, or for appointive office other than those open only to employees. Employees may hold membership on committee of this Society only with the approval of the President.

Section 9. Professional Services. The Board may engage professional services and exercise the right to select, remunerate, and otherwise control such services.

Article X

COMMITTEES

Section 1. General. Standing and Special Committees respectively to promote specified continuing and temporary activities of this Society shall be created by resolution of and be responsible to the Board of Directors. The activities, objectives, and scope of authority of such committees shall be specified by the Board.

Section 2. Personnel. Chairmen of all Standing Committees, except as otherwise provided herein or committees having special organizational or legal relationships, shall be appointed annually by the President with the approval of the Board. Chairmen of Special Committees shall be appointed and discharged by the President. Unless otherwise directed by the President, chairmen shall select the members of their respective committees.

Section 3. Organization. Standing Committees supervising activities of such a nature as to necessitate continuous operation and permanence of personnel, or involving legal relationships with or of this Society, may establish special organizational and operating procedure with the approval of the Board.

Section 4. Reports. Standing Committees shall make written reports of activities annually, or otherwise as required, to the Board. Special Committees shall make written reports of activities as required by the President. Reports of all committees shall be published at least once annually in the official journal.

Article XI

DIVISIONS

Section 1. General. When in its opinion such action advances the objects of this Society and serves the interests of the membership, or upon petition of not less than one hundred (100) members resident in at least three (3) Districts, the Board of Directors may create, establish, combine, reorganize, or discontinue national Divisions of this Society for specialized activities in various fields of photography.

Section 2. Membership and Fees. Members of the Divisions must be members of this Society. Membership in Divisions shall be voluntary. With the approval of the Board, the Division may impose membership fees, which shall be additional to the membership fees of this Society.

Section 3. Organization. Each National Division shall be governed by Divisional Officers and an Executive Committee. The Divisional Officers shall be a Chairman, one or more Vice Chairmen, Secretary and Treasurer. The duties of Secretary and Treasurer may be combined in the office of Secretary-Treasurer. The number and duties of the Vice Chairmen shall be determined by the Executive Committee of that Division. The Divisional Officers shall be nominated and elected by the membership of that Division, under procedure established by the Board for a term of two years. The Divisional Executive Committee shall be composed of the Divisional officers, immediate past Chairman, and committee chairmen to a limit of not more than twenty-five (25), and in addition may also have, at the option of the foregoing officials, two (2) representatives from each section or chapter elected in even years for a term of two (2) years. At the time a new Division is established, the Divisional officers and the Executive Committee shall be appointed by the President, with the approval of the Board, to serve until the subsequent Divisional election.

Section 4. Operation. Under rules and regulations approved by the Board, each Division shall operate to promote the interests of its membership in its specified field of photographic activity.

Section 5. Reports and Recommendations. Once each year, or otherwise as required, each Divisional Chairman shall make to the Board written reports and recommendations for the activities and operations of the Division and its Sections represented. Reports of Divisions shall be published in the official journal.

Section 6. Funds. Funds of each Division shall be deposited with the Treasurer of this Society, and shall be administered by the Divisional Executive Committee in accordance with policy prescribed by the Board.

Section 7. Sections. Under rules and regulations prescribed by the Divisional Executive Committee, and with the approval of the Board, any national Division may authorize the creation of local Sections, to facilitate local participation in the activities of the Division and of this Society. Sections may elect officers, hold meetings, and engage in activities consonant with the policies of the Division and of this Society. Sections shall make reports of activities as required by the Divisional Executive Committee. Sections shall be represented in the National Council and the Board by the Chairmen of the Division with which they are affiliated.

Section 8. Scope of Operations. No Division or Section shall represent this Society as a whole for any purpose without the approval of the Board.

Section 9. Reversion of Funds. Upon discontinuance of any national Division, the funds and property thereof shall revert to this Society.

Article XII

DISTRICTS

Section 1. General. For purposes of promoting the general welfare of this Society through encouragement of member participation in its activities, and of assuring equitable membership representation in its government, the membership shall be divided into Districts which shall be as follows: Each State or Territory of the United States, and each Province of Canada shall constitute a District.

Section 2. Representation. Each District shall be represented on the National Council by one (1) District Representative for each multiple of two hundred (200), or fraction thereof over one-half, members of this Society resident in that District on the first day of the calendar year in which the election is held. No District shall have less than one (1) District Representative. Should the membership of a District fail to elect any or all District Representatives, they shall be appointed by the President with the approval of the Board of Directors. The Board shall have the right to alter the proportion between members and District Representatives.

Article XIII

CHAPTERS

Section 1. Under rules and regulations and in territories prescribed by the Board of Directors at the suggestion of the Chapters Committee, and for the purpose of furthering the local activity and the objectives of the Society, the PSA members, in a trading area may petition the Board for a Chapter as a PSA Chapter. The Board may grant, modify or reject such petition and may for adequate reasons, void any such Chapter.

Section 2. All members of a Chapter shall be members of the Society and Chapter membership shall be voluntary. Chapters shall elect their own officers, finance their own activities, and develop their own programs, making every possible use of the Committee programs aimed at benefiting the entire photographic community. Chapters dues may be established by the Chapter with the approval of the Chairman of the Chapters Committee.

Section 3. No Chapter shall purport to represent other than its own members, nor shall it incur any unusual indebtedness or a total indebtedness greater than $1.00 per member without specific approval of the Chairman of the Chapters Committee. In the event of dissolution of Chapter, its funds shall be held in escrow for a reasonable time by the PSA Treasurer for the use of a possible successor of the organization.

Section 4. Chapters shall cooperate with and assist local camera clubs, Councils and other local organizations in every way possible. Upon complaint of other members of the photographic community, the Chapters Committee Chairman shall appoint an investigating committee to report to him, and he shall recommend corrective action to the Board of Directors. Reports shall be made semi-annually to the Chairman of the Chapters Committee who shall, in turn, report to the Board of Directors at its annual meeting.

Article XIV

HONORARY REPRESENTATIVES

Section 1. General. For purposes of promoting international understanding and friendly relationships with organizations having common aims, activities, and interests, this Society may be represented in countries outside the United States by Honorary Representatives.

Section 2. Duties. Honorary Representatives shall be members both of this Society and of recognized photographic organizations in their own countries, faithfully shall represent this Society in their respective countries, shall promote friendly relationships with other photographic organizations, shall make recommendations for the welfare of members of this Society in their respective countries, and shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by the President or Board of Directors.

Section 3. Privileges. Honorary Representatives shall enjoy the status of officials of this Society and, when visiting the United States, of members of its National Council.

Article XV

RECALL, SUSPENSION, AND EXPULSION

Section 1. General. Final authority for the suspension and expulsion of members of this Society and for the recall of officers or officials shall rest with the Board of Directors.

Section 2. Petition. Any ten (10) or more members of this Society may petition the Board for the recall of any officer of this Society, Division, Sections, Districts, Chapters, or other units, for the recall of any official, or for the suspension or expulsion of any member. Such petition shall be filed in writing, clearly state the grounds upon which action is sought, and be subscribed with the signatures of all petitioners.

Section 3. Investigation. Upon receipt of proper petition for recall, suspension, or expulsion the Board shall appoint a committee to investigate the charges and to report within three (3) months.

Section 4. Decision and Announcement. Upon receiving the report of the investigating committee and after giving the impeached officer, official, or member at least one (1) month in which to make defense, the Board shall reach a decision by three-fourths (3/4) vote of the full Board. The decision of the Board shall be final. Petitioners and accused promptly shall be notified of the decision by the President.

Section 5. Reinstatement. The Board shall have the right, upon reconsidering evidence or upon receipt of additional information, to reinstate any member suspended or expelled or any officer or official removed from office. A three-fourths (3/4) vote of the full Board shall be necessary to such reinstatement.

Article XVI

PUBLICATIONS

Section 1. Journal. This Society shall publish an official journal, which shall be distributed to all members, and shall be available to other individuals and organizations under conditions prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Section 2. Authorization. The Board shall authorize the issuance of all official publications of this Society, which so shall be designated, and shall establish regulatory procedure and policy therefor.

Section 3. Restrictions. Unless authorized by the Board, no Division, District, Section, Chapter, Committee, officer, member, or group of members, shall prepare, edit, or issue any publication purporting to represent this Society as a whole, or to reflect the opinions thereof.

Section 4. Responsibility. Publications of this Society, or of any unit thereof, shall be identified as to source and authority. Each official publication shall be identified by the words: "Official Publication."

Article XVII

FUNDS AND ASSETS

Section 1. Cash. All funds of this Society shall be deposited in banks which are members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in the name of this Society, and subject to checks signed by either the President or the Treasurer; both of whom shall be bonded, with any other of the elected officers or the Executive Secretary or Office Manager as co-signer under the rules and regulations prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Section 2. Assets. All assets of this Society shall be subject to control by the Board.

Section 3. Audit. The Board shall provide for an annual audit of the books of this Society to be made within sixty (60) days after the close of the fiscal year. The report thereof, signed by the auditors, shall be published in the official journal.

Section 4. Reserve Fund. The Board may provide for the creation, alteration, or discontinuance, and otherwise shall exercise control over, reserve, endowment, or other allocated funds, and may allocate assets or income to such funds.

Section 5. Budget. A budget to guide the operations of this Society shall be prepared each year by the Finance Committee, and shall be submitted, in a form and at a time as required, to the Board.

Section 6. Fiscal Year. This Society's fiscal year shall be established by the Board.

Section 7. Dissolution. Dissolution of this Society, if necessary, shall be carried out in accordance with the provisions of the laws of the state in which this Society is incorporated.

Article XVIII

CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS

Section 1. General. This Constitution and these By-Laws shall constitute the basic rules and regulations of this Society.

Section 2. Amendment by Board of Directors. This Constitution and these By-Laws may be amended by a majority vote of the Board of Directors, but only after notification to the entire membership, and ratification by a majority of the votes cast by the members of the National Council within 60 days after the mailing of the ballots.

Section 3. Amendment by National Council. The National Council may at any time propose any amendment to this Constitution and these By-Laws and may call upon the Board of Directors for immediate action thereon.

Section 4. Amendment by Members. Any member in good standing of this Society may, at any time, submit in writing to the National Council any proposed amendment to this Constitution and these By-Laws. If the decision of the Council be unfavorable, the proposed amendment may be submitted in writing to the Board of Directors. If the decision of the Board be unfavorable, the proposed amendment shall, upon petition to the Board by not less than one hundred (100) members resident in at least three (3) Districts, be submitted to mail vote of the membership. A majority vote of the membership shall be necessary to adoption.

Section 5. Reintroduction. No provisions of this Constitution and these By-Laws shall be construed as prohibiting the reintroduction of any proposed amendments by stated procedure.

Section 6. Publication. This Constitution and these By-Laws, with current amendments so identified, shall be published annually in an official publication of this Society.

Article XIX

HONORS

Section 1. General. For purposes of assuring proper recognition of outstanding talents in and contributions to all fields of photography, this Society may, by procedure herein provided, create, establish, perpetuate, and confer Honors.

Section 2. Honors. The Honors of this Society shall be: (a) Associateship; (b) Fellowship; (c) Honorary Membership; and (d) Honorary Fellowship. Such Honors, unless revoked, shall be permanent. Recipients of Honors may append to their names these indications of their status: Associate, APSA; Fellow, FPSA; Honorary Member, Hon. PSA; and Honorary Fellowship, Hon. FPSA. Honors heretofore conferred by the Associated Camera Clubs of America, by this Society, or by the Honors Committee of this Society, shall be retained by the recipients. FACCL and AACL Honors previously conferred by the Amateur Cinema League shall be recognized by the Photographic Society of America; past recipients of said honors may continue to append to their names FACCL or AACL, so long as they remain members in good standing in PSA.

Section 3. Honors Committee. Policies, practices, rules, and regulations governing the establishment and awarding of Honors, shall be prepared, directed and effectuated by the Honors Committee, subject to the review and approval of the Board. The Honors Committee shall be broadly representative of the interests and activities of this Society, and shall consist of eight members of the Society, not less than four of whom shall be Fellows, Honorary Members, or Honorary Fellows. Members of the Honors Committee shall be appointed by the President, with the approval of the Board of Directors, for one term of four years on such basis that the terms of one (1) Fellow, Honorary Member or Honorary Fellow and one (1) other member shall expire each year. The Honors Committee shall elect its own chairman to serve one (1) term of two (2) years. Appointments to fill unexpired terms shall be made by the President.

Section 4. Procedure. Procedure in establishing, directing, and awarding Honors shall permit the Honors Committee to function without interference, except that:

- Policies, practices, rules, and regulations of the Honors Committee shall be reviewed and approved annually by the Board.
- Upon recommendation by the Honors Committee, the Board by a three-fourths (3/4) vote of the ballots cast shall confer Honorary Memberships and by a nine-tenths (9/10) vote of the ballots cast for Honorary Fellowships.
- Honors, except Honorary Memberships and Honorary Fellowships, shall be conferred only upon members of this Society.
- Policies and practices of the Honors Committee shall not operate to prevent any member of this Society from nominating for Honors any other member, in accordance with prescribed rules and regulations.
- The number of living Honorary Fellows shall not exceed 25 at any one time.

Section 5. Reports and Announcements. The Honors Committee shall submit a written report of its activities to the Board at least once each year. Official announcement of Honors conferred shall be published as soon as practicable in the official journal. In awarding Fellowships, Honorary Memberships, and Honorary Fellowships, official announcements shall cite the accomplishments of the recipients upon which the awards are based.

PSA Honors and Requirements

GENERAL STATEMENT

PSA honors are awarded in recognition of contributions to the advancement of the art and science of photography. Such contributions take many forms, which may generally be divided into those resulting principally from proficiency and achievement and those primarily of a service nature. Since personal achievement alone does not necessarily contribute to the advancement of photography, it does not qualify the candidate unless combined with elements of service.

On the other hand, service may contribute substantially to the advancement of photography, even though the candidate's proficiency in the use of the medium may be limited.

(See Requirements for Honorary Membership and Associateship, Category II.)

PSA honors are not degrees of membership nor recognition of proficiency alone.

STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS

The candidate must have been an active member in good standing for at least four years before he is eligible for the Associateship.

The Candidate must have been an active member in good standing for at least seven years, and must have held the Associateship for at least two years, before he is eligible for the Fellowship. (This recognizes that the member may have been active for more than four years before receiving the APSA.) It is also presumed that the candidate has been active in photography for a period of at least ten years.

PROPOSER

The proposer must know the candidate personally through close association for a period of time, and must be able to state from his own knowledge the pertinent facts in the record of the candidate; and he must sign the affirmation to this effect which appears upon page one of the application.

CHANGE. In the past it has been presumed that the candidate is unaware of his candidacy. We are all aware that this has been the exception rather than the rule. Moreover, many deserving candidates have been rejected because the proposer lacked adequate information of the candidate's achievements. Therefore, it shall be recognized that the proposer is free to obtain all possible information from the candidate himself.

ENDORSERS

The proposer shall obtain as endorsers two members of PSA in good standing as of January 1 of the year in which the proposed honor is to be given, and who are familiar with the work of the candidate. However, the endorsers need not have the intimate knowledge of the candidate presumed on the part of the proposer.

DEADLINE

CHANGE. In the year 1959 and thereafter the deadline of March 15th shall be strictly enforced! Any application received after that date shall be returned to the proposer. Such applications will not be automatically entered the following year, but must be renewed by the proposer. The past practice of holding up Honors Awards for delinquent applications has laid an unnecessarily heavy load upon the Committee and upon the Headquarters personnel and has resulted in serious delays of the Committee's work.

EVIDENCE IN SUPPORT OF APPLICATIONS

Material evidence of the candidate's proficiency is not generally required, but if found necessary it will be requested by the Committee. Documented evidence, however, is required as indicated by the questions on the candidate's record form.

QUALIFICATIONS

The Honorary Fellowship (Hon. FPSA).

The Honorary Fellowship is the highest honor awarded by the Society. It is awarded only for unique or outstanding contributions of major importance to photography. The unanimous approval of the Honors Committee and 90 percent approval of the PSA Board are required. The number of living Honorary Fellows is limited to twenty-five. Candidates need not be members of the Society.

The Honorary Membership (Hon. PSA).

The Honorary Membership is awarded for outstanding service to photography, particularly through organizational or similar work. Proficiency in the use of the photographic medium is not a requirement. It may be recommended by a three-fourths vote of the Honors Committee and requires a three-fourths vote of the PSA Board for approval. Candidates need not be members of the Society.

The Fellowship (FPSA)

The Fellowship is awarded for outstanding contributions to the advancement of photography involving a high degree of proficiency and achievement, combined with such elements of service as the dissemination of acquired knowledge by lecturing, judging, instructing, publication of articles, papers, etc. Personal achievement alone does not qualify a candidate for this honor. A three-fourths vote of the Honors Committee is required for the Fellowship.

The Associateship (APSA).

The Associateship is awarded for material contributions to the advancement of photography, whether resulting primarily from proficiency and achievement or service alone. As in the case of the Fellowship, achievement must be combined with elements of service. The Associateship may be awarded by a majority vote of the Honors Committee.

INSTRUCTIONS TO THE PROPOSER

Before proposing any candidate consider the responsibility you are assuming, and your duty to the Society which transcends any desire you may have to do a favor for someone.

a. Present all facts in a brief, concise manner, avoiding exaggeration.

b. Try to give the Committee a picture of the candidate as a man or a woman as well as a photographer. Do not fill several pages with details of the salon record and leave all other (possibly more pertinent) information to be squeezed into the last few paragraphs.

c. Do not submit any application until and unless you are fully convinced that the candidate's achievements are unquestionably far above average. This will eliminate the great number of applications received each year on behalf of candidates whose records, although truly admirable, are duplicated dozens of times throughout the country.

EXAMPLES OF QUALIFICATION IN THE VARIOUS FIELDS OF PHOTOGRAPHY

(A) Monochrome Printing. As this is largely in the field of salon exhibition, considerable weight will be given the salon record where supplemented by other requirements. Publication records among non-exhibitors can be considered for salon record. Organization, salon promotion, judging and the like are all important.

(B) Color Transparencies and Color Printing. As in the case of monochrome photography, weight will be given to the candidate's exhibition record, organization and promotion of salons and exhibitions, judging, etc. Mastery of creative design, composition and color harmony are important qualifications. Proficiency and achievement in the use of color photography in fields other than pictorial may be considered under this category or, if incidental, may be considered collateral in the field of major endeavor.

(C) Motion Picture. Direction, production, editing, titling special effects will all give full weight as will collateral work such as synchronized sound. Any other contribution to the advancement of motion pictures will be considered.

(D) Journalism, Documentary, etc. Because of the nature of this work, the publication record of the candidate is of great importance. Illustrative material used in any medium will be considered.

(E) Nature. The salon record will be considered, but it is also important to include reports of material used for museum and teaching purposes, illustrations for books and articles as well as lecture material.

(F) Research. The degree of responsibility for initiating and directing important research carries important weight. Published works and patent numbers are of importance in this record.

(G) Scientific and Technical. This includes all specialized fields such as scientific, including clinical, commercial and industrial. Such fields as spectrography, photomicrography, X-Ray, high-speed motion picture, aerial, new applications. Special weight will be carried by publication, patents and other documentary evidence.

(H) Professional. Achievements in creative illustrative and advertising photography, portraiture, general commercial and industrial photography will all be carefully considered.

(I) Graphic Arts. Original work in any of the fields of photo-mechanical reproduction will be considered.

(J) Education. Weight is given to records of organization, supervision and teaching of photographic classes: writing, publishing and editing of photographic publications. Lecturing upon photographic subjects. In short all activity tending toward the dissemination of photographic knowledge will be considered carefully.

(K) Organization and Promotion. Any and all activities connected with organizational work in photography will be considered here. This includes organization of clubs, salons, tours, lecture courses, arranging programs, arranging radio and television publicity and any and all activities tending toward the advancement of photography. For the ultimate achievement in this field, the Honorary PSA is awarded.

(L) Stereo Photography. Weight will be given to the Candidate's exhibition record, organization and promotion of salons and exhibitions, judging, etc. Mastery of stereo technique, creative design, composition and color harmony are important qualifications.

INFORMATION TO BE GIVEN ABOUT THE CANDIDATE'S RECORD

Give specific answers to those questions which are applicable. Undoubtedly some will not apply. Paragraph the answers and number the paragraphs to correspond with the question numbers. Give concise and brief, as well as specific, answers. Before filling out any part of this form be sure to read the instructions.

- 1) Present occupation and position, if photographic or related to photography.
- 2) Positions held previously, if photographic or related to photography.
- 3) Photographic organization offices held: chairmanships, committee membership or special services performed or to which appointed or elected, and when.
- 4) Photographic Honors, Medals and Awards received, where and when.
- 5) Judging—pictorial, color, nature, photojournalistic, scientific and technical, etc. Name the salons, shows, or competitions judged, where and when.
- 6) Photographic (or related) papers, articles, or books published. For books give title, name of co-authors (if any), publisher, years of publication, number of pages, and whether or not illustrated. For papers and articles give title, name of co-authors, volume and page numbers, month and year.
- 7) Photographic lectures: Give approximate number of lectures; subjects discussed; before what organizations; courses taught (non-professionally), where and when. Note whether payment (expenses or fees) received for lectures.
- 8) Professional teacher in field of photography or related subjects: Give subjects taught, where and when.
- 9) Exhibitions in any field of monochrome and/or color photography:
 - a. State number of years of exhibiting; approximate number of salons or other exhibitions in which prints, slides or larger transparencies have been judged and exhibited each year; and the approximate total number of different pictures in monochrome and/or color exhibited each year.
 - b. Name the more important salons or other shows in which prints, slides, or larger transparencies have been shown for exhibition.
 - c. If pictures have been submitted in competition, name competitions, and number and nature of prizes or awards received.
 - d. If pictures have been exhibited by invitation, name shows, where and when.
- 10) If field of motion picture—amateur or professional, scientific or technical:
 - a. Give titles of pictures produced, directed, or on which work was done. Include statements as to nature and extent of the work, and the degree of responsibility for that work; where and when the work was done, and the fields of coverage.
 - b. Indicate where and approximately when pictures were shown before audiences.
 - c. State any improvements contributed to art or technique of motion picture making.
- 11) Patents (of photographic, or closely related nature, only) granted: Give co-patentee, if any, title, country, patent number and date issued.
- 12) Photographic products developed or invented (not necessarily patented) or processes perfected.
- 13) Industrial, advertising, commercial, portrait, or other type of professional photography, or photojournalism: Give specific details as to nature of work done or being done.
- 14) Supervisory position in industry, research, or other technical field of photographic or closely related nature: State nature of supervision and type of products or research supervised.

THE NATIONAL HONORS COMMITTEE MAY AT ITS DISCRETION WAIVE ANY OF THE SPECIFIC REQUIREMENTS WHEN SUCH WAIVER IS NOT INCONSISTENT WITH THE OBJECTIVES OF THE SOCIETY AND ITS POLICIES. IT MAY ALSO AWARD HONORS OTHER THAN THOSE REQUESTED WHEN IT DEEMS THEM MORE APPROPRIATE TO THE QUALIFICATIONS OF THE CANDIDATE.

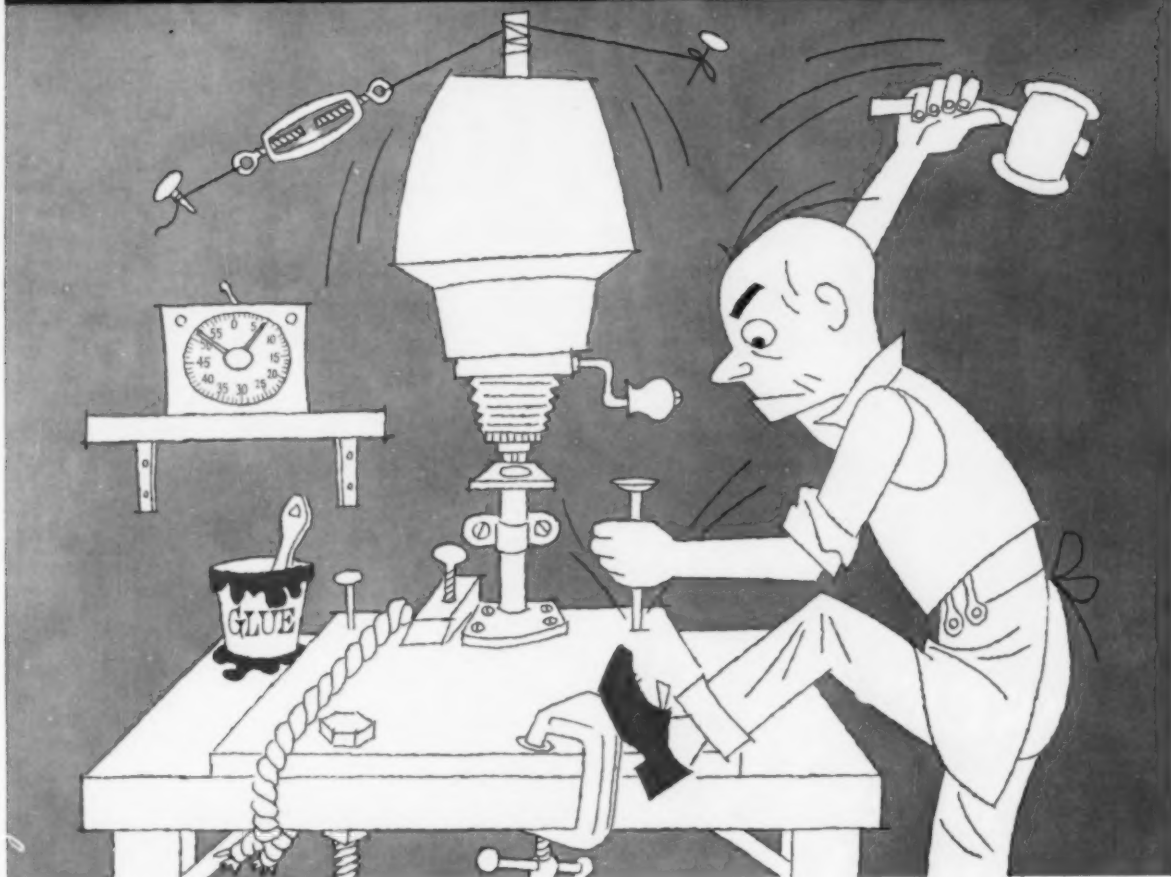

The Statement of Policies above is based on the report of the 1958 National Honors Committee.

How to reduce vibration—if you don't own a Beseler

Beseler reduces vibration automatically

Beseler 45MCR-X builds in rigidity with exclusive "Triangular Truss" construction. Architecturally perfect—structurally rigid

Using the same engineering principle that gives a bridge its rugged strength, Beseler has created the ultimate in enlarger rigidity. The common "L" structure vibrates like a reed. Four-corner construction partially reduces vibration. But only the Beseler "Triangular Truss" is structurally rigid, virtually vibrationless.

4 triangular trusses—4 points of support
—10 points of rigidity reduce vibration to barest minimum in the Beseler 45MCR-X.

Motorized lamphouse: Touch-switch motor control raises and lowers head.
Universal condenser: One universal set of condensers provides perfect illumination for all negative sizes from Minox to 4 x 5 with no glass to move.

Color head: Beseler head positions color printing filters between the condensers where they belong.

Horizontal projection: Instant click-lock horizontal positioning permits easy wall projection for extra-large prints.

Filter drawer: Contrast filters slide in drawer above the lens.

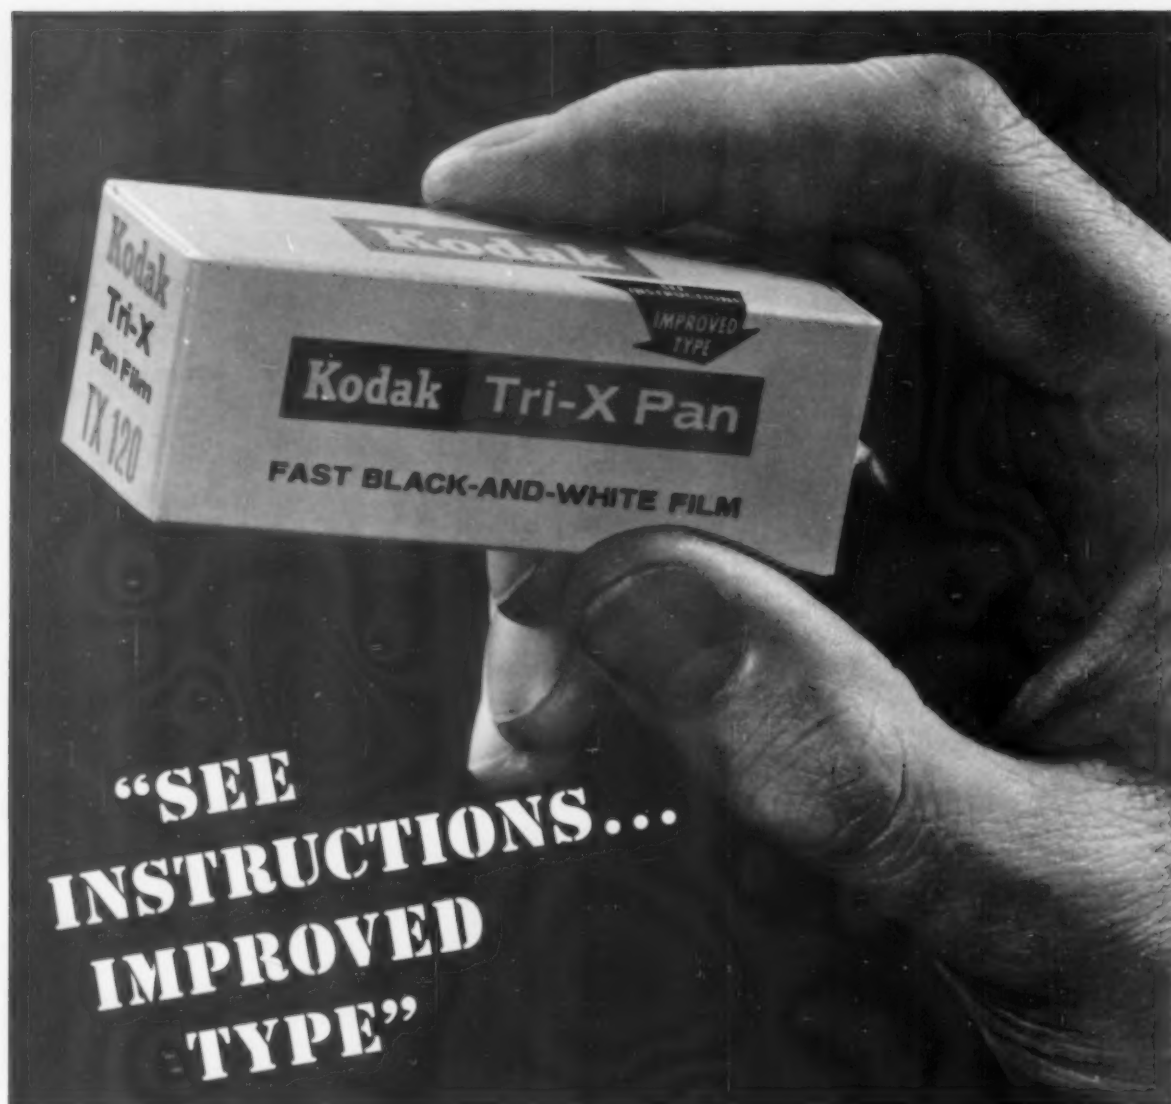

Tilting lens stage: Lens pivots to help you correct for distortion.

Accessories include: "Graflok" camera backs, copy lights, Beslite cold light lamphouse and many, many more.
